Within eleven days of the start of the Italian army into Ethiopia, Italy dominated the whole northern Tigray province without a single show-down fight, Italian sources pointed out.

SUGGEST CHANGES

The League had offered two "face-saving" conditions for its prompt action in the Italo-Ethiopian warfare.

These, set forth by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Mussolini's spokesman at Geneva, in an address yesterday evening to North America, were:

1. That the League "cast aside the policy of two weights and two measures."
2. That the League covenant be "harmonized" to facilitate "necessary change as well as necessary preservation."

To make peaceful settlement with the League easier, Italian spokesmen emphasized the comparatively humane type of warfare they said Italian troops were carrying on in Ethiopia.

The civilian population of Emperor Haile Selassie's domain had welcomed the Italians, officials related.

QUIET IN ROME

Quiet on the African front was matched by calmness in Rome over sanctions, official spokesmen saying, "We don't believe they will be effective."

Meanwhile Italy clung grimly to the League of Nations, and the statement of Premier Laval of France that military sanctions had not been discussed by Great Britain lessened the tension somewhat.

STATES ADUWA TO BE RETAKEN

Ethiopian Emperor States Italian Annexation Will Be Overturned

The following article was written for the Associated Press by Jane D. Orth of New York, woman correspondent in Ethiopia who was granted an interview by Emperor Haile Selassie.

Addis Ababa, Oct. 14.—Emperor Haile Selassie, discussing General Emilio de Bono's proclamation annexing Aduwa yesterday in the name of Italy, told me to-day his proud, unconquered warriors would never tolerate permanent occupation of that historic city by the Fascists.

"Although Aduwa has no special military value either to Ethiopia or Italy, it possesses great sentimental interest for us, for it was there we won our liberty from Italy and we shall do it again," the Emperor said.

HOLLOW VICTORY

"In fulfillment of our own special strategic plan, we allowed the Fascists to occupy the town without real resistance on our part.

"If I were an Italian, I should blush at the boast of capturing an unharmed, undefended town, but I know the Italian people are emotional and sentimental and love the theatrical."

"But do not let the world believe this sacred shrine of our liberty will remain in Italy's hands.

"There can be no peace while a single Italian soldier stands on the soil of Aduwa or Aksum. We will not tolerate a burglar in our house."

SURPRISED AT APPEARANCE

Entering the Emperor's ultra-modern palace, overlooking the roof of the African world, I was struck to find sitting on an Oriental, cushioned, crimsoned-draped throne a diminutive, unpretentious man who graciously arose and extended a small, almost feminine hand, in a cordial greeting.

By ANDREW BERDING
Associated Press Correspondent

Addis Ababa, 4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 13 (By Wireless to Rome).—Italy proclaimed annexation to-day of her newly captured territory in northern Ethiopia, of which this fallen city of vengeance is the centre.

General Emilio de Bono, High Commissioner of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland and commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in East Africa, formally took possession of the land wrested from Ethiopia in the name of King Victor Emmanuel.

General de Bono, with General Maravigna, commander of the army corps which captured Aduwa last Sunday, and Italian Consul France, imprisoned by Ethiopians when the campaign started, was welcomed by the Abuna or Bishop of Aduwa.

Later Italian forces took the Ethiopian sacred city of Aksum without firing a shot, the de facto or de jure coming here and making his submission to General Maravigna.

GOVERNOR THERE

The Governor of Aksum, accompanied by clergy of the Ethiopian church, traveled twenty miles to surrender formally to the Italian authorities.

All warriors who had been holding the sacred city evacuated.

The entire civilian population indicated its submission to General de Bono.

The Italians postponed any attack on the centre of Ethiopia's Coptic Christian Church to avoid arousing the religious feelings of the populace.

Record Vote From Coast to Coast

BASIC LIST

This is the first election in which a basic voters' list has been used. It carries 5,517,387 names.

Under the new system the permanent list is revised once a year, with June 30 as the last day a name can be added or changed. The list stands for any Dominion election held before the next revision. The aim is to ensure speedy elections on registration completed recently as possible.

Under the old system the municipal voters' lists were used as guides and enumerators went out before each election, adding names of those not on the municipal list but entitled to the franchise in Dominion elections. In former elections persons entitled to vote but not on the list could obtain a ballot by taking an oath. In the present polling no one can vote who is not on the list.

The purpose of the new system is to discourage telegraphing, manipulation and other illegal election practices.

This is the eighteenth election since Confederation and the first since Premier Bennett went into power in 1930.

LATE PARTY STANDING

At the last session of the late Commons, which ended July 5, the party standing was: Conservatives 181, Liberals 86, United Farmers 9, Liberal-Progressive 3, Labor 3, Progressive 2, Independent 2, Independent Labor 1, and vacant 6.

After prorogation eighteen Conservatives were appointed to various posts, including a number of Senate seats and seats on the bench.

Three of the four national parties have enough candidates in the field to gain a House majority. Liberals, Conservatives and Reconstructionists.

The C.C.F. party is close to the mathematical line. The 894 candidates are divided among the parties as follows: Liberals 242, Conservatives 232, Reconstructionists 174, C.C.F. 118, Social Credits 47, others 81.

NO ACCLAMATIONS

For one of the first elections in years, there were no acclamations this time, showing the intensity of the campaign and the tight extending across the country.

Despite the number of candidates, the number of parties and the intensity of the campaign, there has been no single great question to divide the country such as reciprocity in 1911 or conscription during the war.

TABLES TURNED

The man on the street came into his own to-day. For the last six weeks or two months, the party leaders and candidates had cast appeal after appeal in his directions, laid their arguments before him. To-day, they sat back and he gave his answer.

It was a busy day for thousands of people. Party candidates directed local armies marshalling the voters, checking lists and keeping a watchful eye on all opponents.

CHIEF OFFICER

A thick-set French-Canadian in Ottawa, Jules Cartouguay, directed the returning officers in all parts of the country in his capacity of chief electoral officer. For weeks and months, Mr. Cartouguay had been building up the election, instructing returning officers in their duties, settling local disputes and overseeing the vast, complicated mechanism necessary for the man on the street to register his vote.

Because of the vast extent of the country, results in the Maritime Provinces will be known before the polls close in British Columbia. The Maritimes are an hour ahead of Ontario and Quebec, two hours ahead of Winnipeg and the central time region, three hours ahead of the mountain time region which extends to Field, B.C., and four hours ahead of the rest of British Columbia.

FINAL ADDRESSES

After weeks of touring, which carried him from coast to coast, the end of the campaign Saturday evening found Liberal Leader Mackenzie King in Ottawa. In the capital he delivered his final address, which was carried across the country on a radio broadcast.

Premier Bennett made the "last speech of his campaign Saturday evening in Belleville, Ont. From there he returned to Ottawa, arriving in the capital Sunday morning.

Hon. H. H. Stevens spoke Saturday evening in Hamilton. From that city he returned to Ottawa.

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, addressed a meeting Saturday evening in Winnipeg.

The coast-to-coast tours of Mr. King, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Stevens aggregated 46,000 miles, almost twice around the earth at the equator.

VOTE IN OTTAWA

Mr. King and Mr. Bennett cast their ballots in Ottawa East and Mr. Stevens in Ottawa West.

Mr. Woodsworth cast his ballot in Winnipeg South Centre, although himself a candidate in Winnipeg North Centre.

VARIED GROUPS

Besides the four national parties—Liberals, Conservatives, C.C.F., and Reconstructionists—in the contest to-day there were independent party labels such as Social Crediters and Communists, and the list ran right down to a Technician, an Anti-Communist and a man in Verdun, Que., running as a Verdun candidate.

Fifteen women appeared for public confidence, including Agnes MacPhail, the only woman ever elected to the Canadian House.

Foreign Minister and president of the League Assembly.

Before the committee, however, Senor Raul Guinazu read the following declaration:

"Argentina votes affirmatively, but in accordance with the 1921 resolution declares that in conformity with the prescriptions of the constitution the executive power cannot put into effect certain of the dispositions. It asks the committee to take into consideration the special situation of Argentina, with a million Italian."

TO ISSUE BULLETINS

The Committee of Eighteen decided also in view of embarrassment caused the committee by inaccurate reports of some of its procedure, all future sessions would be secret and bulletins would be issued to the press at the end of the sessions.

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Correspondent

Geneva, Oct. 14.—The League of Nations Committee of Eighteen for "immediate sanctions" approved to-day a project for a financial blockade of Italy.

Only minor alterations were made in the text of the blockade resolution as submitted by the League's financial committee, which had been approved by the committee.

League experts said that therefore the financial isolation of Italy—barring accidents—would go into effect to-night.

ARGENTINA'S POSITION

Argentina, however, announced it cannot possibly impose financial sanctions because of possible constitutional limitations. In Argentina the Supreme Court has the duty of deciding whether legislation is in conflict with the constitution and might declare sanctions unconstitutional.

Dr. Raul Guinazu of Argentina, president of the League Council, said the country was not opposed to sanctions, according to the Argentine legislation, but there would be no parliamentary session until May. Under the circumstances, Argentina can only approve of financial, and probably also, of economic, sanctions subject to action by parliament.

TO ACT QUICKLY

Other governments were urged to take legislative action as soon as possible to enable them to enforce the sanctions. League officials anticipate constitutional complications in some other states.

The Committee of Eighteen plans to set up a permanent subcommittee to watch over the application of the financial sanctions—in other words, to make sure they really work.

There had been pressure for sharper economic sanctions, but delegates of smaller states, such as Greece and Rumania, were reluctant to deal with these measures without a compensation arrangement which could reimburse them in some form for loss of Italian markets.

The French presented a view that such economic projects as Britain's "buy nothing from Italy" proposals should be postponed for a trial of less serious measures.

The British accepted postponement of a decision on this matter until the return of the committee of Eighteen to Geneva, with the understanding the Committee of Eighteen would discuss an import embargo project and a plan for export bans on certain products, without attempting to decide immediately which plan should be tried first.

DEL FONTAINE'S APPEAL FAILS

Winnipeg Boxer Loses Plea Against London Murder Conviction

London, Oct. 14.—The high court to-day dismissed the appeal of Raymond Bouquet, Winnipeg boxer, known as Del Fontaine, against conviction and sentence of death for the murder of a London waitress, Hilda Meeks.

Bouquet was found guilty at the Old Bailey for the shooting of the girl.

MENTAL CONDITION

At the trial counsel for the boxer strove for a verdict of guilty but insane, producing witnesses who declared Bouquet's mind had been damaged in his ring career.

St. Henry Curtis Bennett, counsel for Bouquet, in presenting his plea to the high court, urged the judge had omitted to put certain matters before the jury.

He drew attention to the evidence concerning the condition of Bouquet's mind as a result of his fights, and said moreover he was worrying about the future and the possible effects of the loss of Miss Meeks's affections.

Lord Hewart, in giving judgment, said the jury might well have thought the evidence showed Bouquet knew what he was doing and that it was wrong. The court concluded there was nothing in the appeal except what arose from the charge of murder.

responsible for numerous frontier clashes.

AWAITS REPORT

He said he lacked official information on the Saturday clash.

Soviet officials insisted Saturday's shooting was occasioned by an attack on the Soviet guard post, but dispatches from Hainkang and Harbin carrying the Manchukuo version said the exchange of fire occurred on Manchukuo territory.

In making his protest here the Soviet ambassador submitted a proposal for a commission to investigate the affair.

A Moscow dispatch yesterday, reporting the Soviet government had ordered the ambassador to Tokyo to make a "resolute" protest over the border incident, at the same time had proposed a mixed commission be appointed to investigate on the spot.

It was reported in Moscow, a Japanese-Manchukuo detachment about fifty strong crossed the Russian border at Ordekovsk (near Khabarovsk) in southeastern Siberia, 500 miles north of Vladivostok, and penetrated into Soviet territory nearly a mile.

The detachment "opened fire on the Soviet guard post, consisting of two mounted frontier guards," said an official Russian press announcement.

"Then two other Soviet patrols, which were approximately two and a half kilometres from the Japanese-Manchukuo detachment, and men, hastened to the assistance of the first patrol."

SEN GRASS AFIRE

The Japanese-Manchukuo detachment opened fire with a machine gun on the Soviet guard post, and in order to mask itself, set fire to the grass, the smoke from which covered it, and moved in the direction of the Soviet frontier patrol.

"As a result of the firing that arose there are dead and wounded among the Soviet guards and also, on the Japanese-Manchukuo side."

PREVIOUS CROSSINGS

Previously, protests had been lodged with the Japanese and Manchukuo governments on border crossings reported in the same area on October 6 and 8.

In the first of these invasions, the Japanese-Manchukuo detachment crossed the Russian border on October 6. It was contained, the invading force numbered fifty, but no fighting was mentioned.

Russian border incidents have occurred on the border in the last few months.

Harbin, Manchukuo, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press by wire).—Reports received in Moscow that Soviet frontier guards were killed in a border clash, the Manchukuo Foreign Office delivered an energetic protest to the Soviet consul here to-day.

The protest declared the Soviet guards were responsible for the incident, which involved fifty Manchukuo soldiers at Ordekovsk, a border point near Khabarovsk, southeastern Siberia.

The official Soviet press refrained from comment, publishing a brief communiqué but not giving the number of casualties.

Doctor Held For Two Murders

after being charged with the "horro murder" of Miss Rogerson.

The Rogerson girl had been missing since a few days before the discovery of the expertly dissected bodies near Moffat, Scotland.

DOCTOR'S WIFE MISSING

Missing also was the wife of the doctor, mother of three children, for about the same period.

Experts who examined the remains said they were almost certain one of the two bodies was that of the Rogerson girl who had been a nursemaid for the Ruxton children.

H. J. Vann, chief constable of Lancaster, who arrested Ruxton at dawn yesterday after hours of "questioning" the police, said "definite identification has been established linking the body of the young female found at Moffat with Miss Rogerson."

Dr. Ruxton attended to his regular practice as though nothing out of the ordinary had affected the even tenor of his life after he was gripped by the police Saturday by police. He received patients for surgery in an office directly across a public park from the police station. It was in that office, police believe, that he dissected the body of the young nursemaid and carried it to Scotland, where he tossed it from a bridge into the ravine.

Callander, Ont., Oct. 14.—Alan Roy Dufco, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, was stated to-day to hear that "his babies" now had rivals for fame in England—but the "rivals" are quadruplets.

Asked for his reaction to the birth of quadruplet boys to Mrs. Alfred W. Dufco in London Saturday evening, Dr. Dufco told the editor of The London Daily Mirror over the telephone: "We still have them beat up here in Corbell (near where the quintuplets were born)."

Starting November 1, Dr. Dufco said a new routine for visiting hours at the hospital home of the quintuplets, with the famous youngsters "receiving" only once daily instead of twice, at 4 p.m.

Financial Embargo Against Italy Voted

A second subcommittee was appointed to determine under what conditions the mutual aid called for by paragraph three of Article XVI of the covenant can be applied in economic matters.

SPEED URGED

Both committees were instructed to complete their work with all possible haste and to report to the Committee of Eighteen as soon as they had achieved concrete results.

Reports Argentina would refuse to enforce sanctions because of its great Italian population were denied to-day by Enrique Raul Guinazu, Argentine

STAGE RIOT IN MONTREAL

Political Outbreak in Youville Area Over When Police Arrive

Montreal, Oct. 14.—A broken bottle flecked with blood was the only sign of trouble that awaited police who answered a riot call in Youville Square to-day. Twenty political partisans who had taken part in a street fight a few minutes before had jumped into automobiles and driven away before the officers arrived.

The disturbance started when a large black sedan containing five men cut in front of a similarly loaded machine and forced it over to the curb. The occupants of both cars jumped out and started a free-for-all. Three other automobiles bearing three to five passengers stopped and their occupants joined in the struggle.

In the excitement one man was knocked unconscious with a bottle.

Man Who Waged Battle With Arctic Near Death at Ninety-one Years

Washington, Oct. 14.—Fifty-one years ago Major-General Adolphus Washington Greely waged a seemingly hopeless battle against the terrors of an Arctic winter.

Yesterday he lay in a covered wing of Walter Reed Hospital here, death stood near the ninety-one-year-old explorer. He is semi-conscious much of the time, his heart irregular.

On July 4, 1881, the Greely expedition ship, the Proteus, cleared Newfoundland with a party of twenty-five. After penetrating farther into the Arctic than man had ever gone before and carrying out their plan to explore Grinnel Land, due north of Hudson Bay and far beyond the Arctic Circle, Greely and his men returned to their base camp to find the return of their steamer, Greely was to remain at his base camp until September 1, 1883, and if he then had received no word, was to trek southward.

Two ships failed to reach the camp and the men started southward, breaking through temperatures of sixty below zero. Their rations became almost exhausted. In January the first man died. The hands and feet of another were frozen. One, charged with stealing food, was executed.

Greely lectured on geography and mathematics to distract his men from their suffering.

Finally in June, with only seven men left of his original party, Greely was found by a rescue ship near Cape Sabine, 200 miles south of his base camp.

For almost half a century, Greely's work was not honored any more. But last March he received a Congressional Medal of Honor.

With 26,902 registered voters, a poll of between 16,000 and 18,000 was predicted.

In the 1930 election 14,822 ballots were marked but the new distribution brings 5,000 odd voters more into the constituency. The 1930 vote was the highest in recent elections.

CABINET VOTES

One of the provincial cabinet ministers lost his vote. Attorney-General Gordon Gluck, registered in Victoria, is in Vancouver prosecuting the George brothers murder trial and could not get here to cast his ballot.

Hon. George S. Pearson went to Nanaimo where he is registered and Hon. A. Wells Gray cast his ballot in New Westminster. Premier Pattullo and the other four ministers all exercised their franchise in Victoria.

The Legislative Buildings closed for the day at 3 o'clock, allowing all civil servants the requisite two hours to vote. The City Hall also closed early.

Liquor stores and beer parlors are closed all day and will not be permitted to open after the polls close. The Dominion Election Act differs from the provincial regulations in this respect.

authoritative source disclosed to-day that Great Britain already lifted her arms embargo against Ethiopia, and that the Board of Trade is free to consider any application for munitions shipments to Ethiopia.

The action took place automatically after the League of Nations sanctions staff had recommended an arms embargo against Italy and the lifting of any such embargoes against Ethiopia.

FROM BELGIUM

Brussels, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press by wire).—Belgium to-day lifted the arms embargo on Ethiopia, following the recommendation of the League of Nations.

The Hague, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press by wire).—The Netherlands government has drafted a ban on arms exports to Italy.

BIG POLL IN THIS RIDING

With 26,902 registered voters, a poll of between 16,000 and 18,000 was predicted.

In the 1930 election 14,822 ballots were marked but the new distribution brings 5,000 odd voters more into the constituency. The 1930 vote was the highest in recent elections.

CABINET VOTES

One of the provincial cabinet ministers lost his vote. Attorney-General Gordon Gluck, registered in Victoria, is in Vancouver prosecuting the George brothers murder trial and could not get here to cast his ballot.

Hon. George S. Pearson went to Nanaimo where he is registered and Hon. A. Wells Gray cast his ballot in New Westminster. Premier Pattullo and the other four ministers all exercised their franchise in Victoria.

The Legislative Buildings closed for the day at 3 o'clock, allowing all civil servants the requisite two hours to vote. The City Hall also closed early.

Liquor stores and beer parlors are closed all day and will not be permitted to open after the polls close. The Dominion Election Act differs from the provincial regulations in this respect.

GREAT BATTLE IN ETHIOPIA

ATTACK ON WING

The Ethiopian commander decided to strike at the Italians' left wing, hoping to turn their flank in the desolate, waterless region to the southwest.

Ethiopian here, estimating their forces would outnumber the southern Fascist legions almost fifteen to one, were confident the Italians would be overcome easily by the preponderant strength of the native tribesmen.

His 100,000 warriors had been awaiting the word for a swift advance to join 60,000 irregulars led by the Dutch Boer Colonel Swinank, owner of an estate at Mobila, a few miles within the frontier of Italian Somaliland.

Ethiopian said Colonel Swinank, aroused by constant controversies with local Italian authorities, had decided to throw his strength to the Ethiopian side and to take active service against the Fascists.

ITALIAN ADVANCE

General Graziani's army, after an advance of thirty miles from its original base in the Ogaden province desert along the borders of Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland, was protected by 250 tanks and 300 airplanes.

The swift tanks, mounted with modern machine guns, would advance along the British frontier near Bokolah southward to Kabrin, Berdihah and Masara, across the southern sector of Ethiopia.

Ethiopian sources declared the advance of the modern, mechanized Italian army, which has 200,000 warriors armed to cut off with their more primitive weapons, already had cost heavy Ethiopian casualties.

THREE MEN IN CANOE KILLED

Sudbury, Ont., Oct. 14.—Three bodies, identified as those of Cecil Vesina, Phillip Martin and Anthony Boyer, were recovered yesterday by searchers in Flame Lake, provincial police headquarters reported.

From the information received, it was believed the men were fishing forty-seven miles south of Chapleau with dynamite in their canoe.

First intimation of the tragedy was received by authorities when the shattered remains of the canoe were found in a report made to police.

Beatty Denies Stevens Report

Says He Had No Share in Choosing Hon. R. R. Bruce As Candidate

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Sir Edward Beatty denies he had anything to do with the choice of any candidate seeking election in the present campaign. In reply to a somewhat pointed reference made by Hon. H. H. Stevens in a radio address Saturday evening, Sir Edward issued the following statement:

"Hon. H. H. Stevens's genius for inaccurate statements is well known, but in asserting in his radio broadcast on Saturday night that I had a part in the selection of Hon. R. R. Bruce as Liberal candidate in East Kootenay, he seems to have drawn on his imagination to an unusual degree. Naturally, I have not the remotest connection with the selection of the candidates of any political party in Canada. I have never made any representations to Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Woodsworth or Mr. Aberhart or to anyone on their behalf, nor have I been consulted by any one of them. Even Mr. Stevens overlooked me."

Col. Roosevelt's Campaign Plans

Disagrees With Borah U.S. Republicans Should Go "Trust-busting"

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, ranking figure in eastern Republicanism, turned a cold shoulder yesterday evening on Senator Borah's proposal to lay the foundation of the 1936 presidential campaign on a "trust-busting" issue.

In a cordial but firm letter to the Idaho Senator, Colonel Roosevelt expressed "entire sympathy" with Senator Borah's attitude toward monopolies in industry, but flatly disagreed with the Senator that business monopoly shaped up as the major issue of the 1936 campaign.

"Overshadowing" this issue, he wrote, were those of "scandalous waste of the people's money," government extravagance, multitudinous taxes, and "attempts that are being made to subvert our type of government."

Spokesman Says Tokio Objects to Limitation of Discussion at London

Associated Press
Vienna, Oct. 14.—An Austrian police decree just out bans all motion pictures with Ethiopian themes. The decree is flippantly described in some quarters as "the first sanction against Ethiopia."

Police said such pictures are "too exciting and likely to give a false impression of Ethiopia."

GREAT SALMON RUN REPORTED

Queets, Wash., Oct. 14.—Sahalie Papa—Heavenly Father—is good to His Quinault Indian children.

There is peace and plenty and to spare in the cabins along the Queets and Clearwater Rivers, and far up Snoqualmie and Tokeah Creeks. The salmon are running, and it's the largest run of silvers and blacks in the memory of the tribe.

"Ah-lah!"—a pleasant surprise—say the tribesmen, eying bulging nets into the baskets. Even chest-wood—the black bear—the gorger—must cry enough as he dips voracious paws into the hurrying horde and flips fat salmon out for a creek bank feast.

Al-lah, a pleasant surprise, but passing strange, too, for the Queets and all other Washington coastal streams are still at the low water stage and even a foolish woman knows the salmon never run until the fall rains swell the streams.

Elsewhere, too, the streams are low, but elsewhere the salmon are staying out on the great saltchuck, waiting for high water before swimming up the freshwater creeks to the spawning grounds. Only the Queets and its tributaries are filled with fish.

"Heh-lah" makes mink—the white men—of State Fisheries Department are perplexed at the heavy run of salmon in the shallow Queets. The

NO SPEEDY ITALY VICTORY

Russian Ex-general Says It Would Take 100 Years to Subjugate Ethiopia

Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 14.—Wladimir Levandowsky, a lieutenant-general in the army of Czar Nicholas II, predicted today that it would take Italy "more than 100 years" to subjugate Ethiopia.

Now a landscape architect with the national capital park and planning commission, Levandowsky, sixty-three, was a general of a Russian army which operated through the Caucasus and Asia Minor during the World War.

The veteran said in an interview that he fought against Weibul Fasha, a Turk who is now in Halle Selassie's high command, and pronounced him "a most capable" general.

"It took the French seventy-five years to subjugate Algeria; it took us (the Russians) 100 years to conquer the Caucasus, and Spain never did get the part of Morocco it wanted to colonize," Levandowsky said, explaining difficulties confronting the Italians.

"It will take generations," predicted the general, alluding to Ethiopia's mountains and deserts as obstacles in the path of the invaders. "Airplanes and gas will do much, but destroying cities does not conquer a country."

SAY SANCTIONS PLAN IS WEAK

Central European Bankers States Views on Plan Against Italy

Associated Press
Basel, Switzerland, Oct. 14.—Heads of central European banks, here for the monthly meeting of the Bank of International Settlements board, today concurred in the view that the League of Nations proposed financial sanctions against Italy are "more theoretical than practical."

The bankers said prohibition of loans to Italy is "of no importance for the moment" since the Italian government says it does not need them.

THREE SLAIN; MAN IS HELD

Two Women and Man Shot on Highway in Utah

Associated Press
Salt Lake City, Oct. 14.—Police questioned one man and remained vigilant today as they pressed for a solution of a gunman's brief reign of terror that resulted in quick death to three persons and the wounding of two others.

Those killed were Mrs. Blanche Nelson, about thirty-five, of Woodcross, seven miles north of Salt Lake City; John L. East, forty-two, a farmer of East Bountiful, and his wife, Alice, thirty-eight.

Mrs. Nelson was slain yesterday evening by a man who dragged her from his automobile near the East farm, and who then slew the Easts because they apparently had been unwilling witnesses to the fatal shooting of the woman.

The killer sped away in his car and while passing through Bountiful, ten miles north of here, fired from his machine, one bullet striking George Reigh, twenty-three, of Salt Lake City, in the head and critically wounding him.

Continuing his mad dash along the state highway, the slayer shot down Keith Reicht of Farmington as he walked along a sidewalk. The death car then vanished.

ROADS BLOCKED
Sheriff Joseph Holbrook and Salt Lake City police blocked all highways in the northern part of the state and Officer Sherman Falkenberg arrested a man driving a green sedan similar to one several witnesses had seen in the vicinity of the East farm. The man said he was Leo Rutledge, thirty-one-year-old butcher, and came here last May from San Diego, Cal.

Chief of Police Payne said Rutledge denied knowledge of the crimes, but the man was questioned far into the night and was held pending investigation.

WRECKED CAR TELLS OF ROOSEVELTS' NARROW ESCAPE

John, nineteen, and James Roosevelt, twenty-eight, sons of President Roosevelt, riding in the roadster pictured above had a narrow escape from death and suffered only slight injuries when the so apparent damage was inflicted. The car was crushed against the post of a safety gate at a railroad crossing in Boston when John's quick-witted driving averted a head-on collision with the speeding train. He had crashed through the gate in a mad drive to catch a New York-bound plane.

Quinaults are perplexed, too, but it is not for them to question the Sahalie Papa's will. Nesiko Papa sends unexpected manna after four lean years.

William Penn, Queets, said the catch is "A gift from somewhere, and doubly welcome because of the small catches and the hunger of the past four years. He said the catch already exceeds all the salmon caught last year."

The white men, the experts, say perhaps there has been some rains up in the Olympic Mountains and the salmon sense the coming of the floods. Perhaps, they theorize, the salmon may have been waiting for a freshet, and, when it failed to come, they were forced upstream out of the ocean to deposit their eggs and die.

Election Plans In Britain Speeded

YOUTH HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 14.—A seventeen-year-old youth was charged with housebreaking following his capture Saturday night by W. B. Gorrie, 3449 West Thirty-eighth. A second youth evaded capture.

Mrs. C. Goddall, 3421 West Thirty-eighth Avenue, discovered the two youths attempting to force entry to her home and called Mr. Gorrie. He seized a revolver and set out to capture the would-be burglars. The fled on seeing him. He gave chase and fired one shot which brought one youth to a halt. The other continued to run and escaped. Police were called and the captured youth was turned over to them. He was taken to the Detention Home to await trial in Juvenile Court.

Activity Increases at Party Headquarters as Commons Polling in November Looms; Candidates Total 1,235

Associated Press
London, Oct. 14.—Considerable activity has suddenly developed at all political party headquarters in preparation for the general election expected next month.

Already there are 1,235 candidates in the field for the 615 seats in the House of Commons, and many additions are expected. Nominations are expected to be made November 11.

Government parties, including Conservatives, National Liberals and National Laborites, have at present 520 candidates. Labor has 515 candidates, while the opposition Liberals, headed by Sir Herbert Samuel, estimate their total at 200. It is expected there will also be about 100 candidates supporting the programme of former Premier David Lloyd George, but the number has not been announced.

PAYS VISIT TO WORKSHOP

Lieut.-Governor Inspects
Poppy Work at Red Cross
Institution Here

Work of returned soldiers severely wounded in the war was inspected by Lieutenant-Governor Fordham Johnson on Saturday as he paid his annual visit to the Red Cross Workshop on Johnson Street.

The Lieutenant-Governor went over all departments of the workshop, expressing his appreciation of the work being done.

Major G. H. O'Neil, in charge of the workshop; J. Waterson, campaign manager for Remembrance Day; Commander Charles H. R. Blingby, chairman of the Remembrance committee, and A. Palmer, vice-chairman, met the Lieutenant-Governor and Capt. W. Hobart Molson, A.D.C., on their arrival and conducted them around.

The returned men were working in the poppy making section, manufacturing the imitation blooms and wreaths.

CURRIE BUTTON

The Currie button, which commemorates the part of Sir Arthur Currie in the war, aroused considerable interest. The button is being incorporated into each poppy this year. The method of dispatching the buttons, made here and packed in Victoria—made cartons, was explained.

The community cross was on display. The cross will be placed in a conspicuous place and when covered with poppies will be removed to the Returned Soldiers' Monument in the Parliament Buildings grounds.

Before leaving the shop, His Honor requested the committee to reserve a big wreath for him.

COWICHAN CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Duncan, Oct. 14.—The annual meeting of the Cowichan Golf Club was held in the club house, Duncan, on Thursday evening with K. F. Duncan, vice-president in the chair.

The resignation of C. R. Drayton, from the presidency was accepted with much regret. He has left the district to reside in Victoria.

The president's report showed the club in an improved financial position.

The executive committee of the club endorsed the proposed "returned men's" competition, for a cup to be donated by Major Warner. This is open to all navy, army, and air force men, and will be run on the same lines as those held annually at other clubs. It is proposed to hold it on Sunday, November 17, with details to be worked out by Duncan, Rhodes and Suddaby, with a committee of two from the local branch of the Canadian Legion. The secretary of the golf club will receive any prizes donated.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Colonel A. F. M. Slater; vice-president, Mr. K. F. Duncan; re-elected; captain, T. H. King; re-elected; secretary-treasurer, E. W. Carr-Hilton; re-elected; committee, Mrs. F. G. Alder, H. A. Rhodes, N. E. Suddaby, A. E. P. Stubbs, G. Prevost.

CALIFORNIA ROARS WELCOME TO ROOSEVELT

Roars of welcome from 60,000 throats echoed through Los Angeles' vast Memorial Coliseum when the presidential procession, as shown above, entered the arena, shortly after a half million Californians had poured out of homes and offices to greet the vacationing chief executive. The demonstration of enthusiasm was believed the greatest accorded President Roosevelt since he entered the White House. After a wildly acclaimed speech in which Mr. Roosevelt told the great audience that economically "we have come through stormy seas into fair weather," he and Mrs. Roosevelt, nearly buried in bouquets of welcome, smiled at the cheering crowd.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

STAMPS AS COINS

War, which brought on a shortage of metal and the hoarding of coins, also caused the use of stamps as legal tender. It was so in the United States during the Civil War, and it was more so in Europe, particularly France, Germany and Austria, during the World War.

Since the stamps would last a very short time if handled too often, they were put into small metal containers and covered with mica, the backs of the containers carrying advertising emblems which repaid the cost. Above are the front and back of such a stamp coin, current in Denmark shortly after the war. In that country, this was done more as a commercial enterprise, by which the government could profit from such advertising, than from lack of coinage. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service Inc.)

Tourists have been so numerous in Plymouth, England, that hotels have placed beds in bathrooms.

King Edward VII, made the killing of a falcon a crime punishable by death. The birds were valued for their use in the sport of hawking, bringing down birds on the wing.

Recent Weddings

STEWART-MUNRO

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was the scene of an interesting wedding on Saturday evening when Rev. James Hyde united in marriage, Jean, eldest daughter of Rev. Duncan Munro and Mrs. Munro, of Bobcayon, Ont., to Mr. Duncan Stewart, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart, Wilson Street.

Entering the church to the strains of the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus, played by Mr. W. Dallimore, the bride was given in marriage by her aunt, Mrs. W. R. Cranna, of Penticton. She made an attractive figure in her wedding gown of ivory tulle, trimmed with orange blossoms, her hair being caught to the hair with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lily of the valley, heather and maiden-hair fern.

Miss Margaret Hughes, the only bridesmaid, wore a pretty gown of pale blue organza with pink sash, muffs and hat to match. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. The groom, Mr. Duncan Stewart, was dressed in a tuxedo, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Heddle and James Stewart. While the register was being signed, Miss Jean McGowan sang, "All Joy Be Thine."

The reception was held later at the home of Mrs. Rita McTavish Hughes, 1850 Westwood Avenue, the guests being received by Mrs. W. R. Cranna and Mrs. Hughes. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of autumn flowers and foliage.

Supper was served from a table decorated with sweetheart roses, and the wedding gifts were placed on a table. Miss Almee O. Heddle, Miss Luella Ketcheson, Miss Annie Adamson and the Misses Annie and Bella Stewart, assisted in serving.

Among the wedding gifts was an electric mantle clock from Rennie and Taylor Ltd., where the groom is employed, and a beautiful standard lamp from the staff of the Aged Women's Home, and a cheque from the ladies' committee of the Aged Women's Home, where the bride has been employed.

The bride and groom left later for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, the bride traveling in a violet felt crepe dress with accessories, and a fur coat. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will make their home on Pinlayson Avenue.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. R. Cranna of Penticton; Mrs. Frank Heath of Port Alberni, and Mr. W. Stewart of North Vancouver.

STEWART-PEARCE

With the harvest festival decorations as a colorful background for the ceremony, the wedding of Gladys Ethel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pearce, 644 Langford Street, and Mr. Robert John Stewart, second son of Mr. W. Stewart, Esquimalt, and of the late Mr. Stewart, was solemnized at St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, on Saturday evening, Rev. E. M. Willis officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an attractive frock of Gloria blue velvet trimmed with silver and a matching turban with a silver veil, silver slippers and a corsage bouquet of roses. A small reception of relatives and a few close friends was held after the service at the home of the bride's parents, and supper was served from a table centred with a wedding cake.

Senator J. H. King and Mrs. King of Kingscraig, Rockland Avenue, returned this afternoon to their home in Victoria after visiting in Vancouver and Cranbrook.

Miss Nance Carter and Mr. Meredith McFarlane of Vancouver, whose engagement was formally announced in midsummer, have named the evening of Monday, November 4, for their wedding at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Kenildale. Miss Carter, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Carter, will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Richard Dubois-Phillips, as matron of honor; and by a bridesmaid trio comprised of Miss Joan Cumming, Miss Kathleen McFarlane and Miss Anne Carter, the two latter sisters of the principals. Mr. Ronald Burns of Victoria will be best man for Mr. McFarlane, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hillard McFarlane. Mr. James Rankin, Mr. John Swanson and Mr. Richard Dubois-Phillips will act as ushers.

Woman Store President Studies Cash Customers

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Memories of the heavy heart that one sensitive woman often carried away from a shop because of a rude, overbearing salesperson have been the chief influence in shaping policies of a great metropolitan retail store during the year just past.

The memories are those of Hortense Odium, only U.S. woman president of such an organization. She herself was the sensitive shopper. When she became the head of Bonwit Teller's Inc., one year ago, she had never held a job nor earned a penny. She was as she said "just an average wife and mother."

But in twelve months her business has been so successful that important retail men now pause to marvel and take pointers. She has made relatively few changes in personnel. Yet she has transformed the entire spirit of the place, brought in many extra dollars of revenue and thousands of new customers, some of whom regularly exchange friendly letters with her.

MEN DO NOT UNDERSTAND WOMEN

"It is the most exciting thing in the world, and as I told my husband the other night, I can't help feeling some times that I am in a dream," Mrs. Odium said, her blue-green eyes sparkling, her vivid face alight. There was so much to do that morning that she was taking her coffee at her big desk which unlike the uncannily cleared desks of most executives had papers and memoranda piled high.

"You know," she went on, chuckling, "I always felt and said that a woman's place was in the home and I am not sure I have changed my mind. I suppose it depends mainly on circumstances. But one thing I know—men do not understand women and never will. So perhaps being the president of a store is just an extension of woman's place."

"Anyway, what I have done has been done simply by putting myself into the customer's place. For two years I had been observing the workings of the store at the request of my husband whose company had acquired an interest in it" (her husband is Floyd Odium, multi-millionaire who built a fortune from nothing in seventeen years).

TALKS WITH IRATE CUSTOMERS

"I thought I knew what to do, but of course, thinking and doing are two different things." One of the first rules Mrs. Odium made was that all dissatisfied customers were to be referred straight to her. It was almost unheard-of—that a president who is supposed to be a remote god sitting way off somewhere should see just any person who wanted to make a fuss!

But Mrs. Odium calmly persisted. She knew how one woman's bad experience with a store could ruin that store forever in a community. As a home woman she had been to bridge parties and teas where such experiences were passed on, and sometimes embroidered in the passing.

So nervous women wept on her shoulder, told her their life stories for heart-to-heart talks. Each department has its own staff meetings and frank get-togethers. When new merchandise comes in, the buyer explains it to the salespeople and they ask questions until they know what it is all about. There is a suggestion box in the store. Anybody may place there a criticism or plan for improvement.

POLITENESS MORE THAN POLICY

"I even told the staff how I used to feel when a saleswoman had high-hatted me," Mrs. Odium declared. "How I used to go to bed at night miserable just because some unknown in a shop had been unkind. I tried to make them see that a woman with a shawl over her head is just as much our important guest as one in saffron."

"The truth is," she added shrewdly, "the woman with the shawl may sometimes be able to buy and sell the one with saffron but that is not the point. We had an interesting sample not long ago about how little you can judge by dress. It was a rainy day and a woman in a nondescript rain hat and coat was waiting for a friend. A sweet little salesgirl, just to pass the time pleasantly for the woman, showed her costume jewelry and she bought $750 worth before she left!"

CASH CUSTOMERS

People write in to tell Mrs. Odium how polite and efficient a certain saleswoman has been and Mrs. Odium proudly posts the letter on the bulletin board or reads it in sales meetings.

She has had thousands of letters since she started the custom of sending a courtesy card signed by herself to every cash customer. The card was the result of suddenly thinking one day that it was unfair for people with charge accounts to get more attention than those who pay at once.

JOAN CRAWFORD'S BRIDAL SMILE

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 15.—The glamorous Joan Crawford, screen stars whose names have been linked romantically for months, honeymooned high up in a fashionable New York hotel last night and denied themselves to callers.

Their marriage took place in a peaceful little New Jersey town last Friday morning, Tinseltown disclosed yesterday. Mayor Herbert Jenkins of Englewood Cliffs read the ceremony.

Mrs. Tinseltown declined to talk. She is the former wife of Douglas Fairbanks Jr., and once was known on the stage as Lucille La Stetter. Mayor Herbert Jenkins of Englewood Cliffs, N.J., disclosed last night he married the two film stars Friday. It was a simple ceremony, he said.

In a New York hotel, Tinseltown confirmed her marriage and said Nicholas Schenck, movie executive, was one of the few witnesses to the ceremony.

"We'll stay here for about ten days more and then go back to Hollywood for a while," the bridegroom added.

For two years Tinseltown has played suitors to Miss Crawford, both off and on the screen, since she obtained a divorce from Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Friends of the couple frequently reported their intention to wed. Tinseltown

said, on his arrival here simultaneously

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

One cannot speak of "the public school system" in the singular. In the forty-eight states there are forty-eight systems, generally speaking, and each unit divides and subdivides according to the funds and facilities of the various cities, towns, boroughs, and townships within state borders.

As a rule, methods in the larger cities bear a close resemblance to each other; first, because they were founded upon the same educational principles; secondly, because each is agile in picking up innovations successfully tried and proved by another city. Smaller communities eventually follow suit as they can.

Thus it happens that some of the leading cities have completely revamped their methods of promoting or "placing" a child, while across the state line—or even the county line—schools are still using the straight formula of report cards and percent to the exclusion of all else.

HOW NEW SYSTEM JUDGES CHILD

One of the newest systems used in placing the child, or promoting him, considers "ability" (measured by marks); "aptitude," which is just what it says; and the "psychological age" of the child, sometimes called mental age.

Placing is therefore elastic. The "quick" child is given his chance to skip. The slower child goes on with his class and is given the opportunity to make up the lagging subject at a special time and place. In cases of the mental deviate or the very slow child, the pupil is put into a selective school where he may learn handicraft. If old enough for junior high, he is often set on the road to a vocation. The success of the latter schools has been astonishing.

This does not mean that all pupils who choose trade or vocational work are slow pupils. Quite the contrary; often they are the smartest of scholars and are merely exercising elective rights. But reclamation work, as we all know, accents manual effort in conjunction with certain mental exercises.

The following method of placing was tried out for a while in some cities. Promotion depended on the decisions of a committee composed of teacher, principal, psychologist and parents. Approximately nine-tenths of the children would be promoted without comment. The remainder were given special attention by the committee and their best interests considered.

The child put ahead, who cannot master the grade work is unhappy and confused. The child kept back is more unhappy still. The demoted child gives up entirely. These are the facts that revolutionized promotion methods.

Whether or not we approve of psychology, the worst is unhappy and confused. The child kept back is more unhappy still. The demoted child gives up entirely. These are the facts that revolutionized promotion methods.

Smaller cities and towns may eventually vote on the worth of some such plan. Be that as it may, most schools to date have recognized the wisdom of averaging marks with aptitude, and of special classes for help wherever possible. The days of slip-foot Harry in grade four are over. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

Succeeds Gordon Wooldridge As Head of B.C. Branch of Amateur Union

Efforts of the British Columbia Basketball Association to secure the intermingling of professional and amateur athletes in their games will now have to be centred on their parent body, the Canadian Basketball Association. This was the decision reached at the annual meeting of the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada held at the Dominion Hotel on Saturday, with President Gordon Wooldridge in the chair.

Officials of the B.C. cage body presented a resolution to the session calling for the intermingling of pros and amateurs and seeking the support of the B.C. branch of the A.A.U. in their move. The resolutions committee voted "non-concurrence" on the resolution, following which the delegates voted to permit the basket-

During the discussion it was pointed out that such a move would disqualify any B.C. team from taking part in the Olympic Games next year. Walter Hardwick, treasurer of the B.C.A.B.A., declared his association realized that feature and was willing to take a chance.

A long discussion resulted on another resolution presented by the basketballers, calling for lower registration fees for junior basketball players. The resolution was passed, all affiliated sports was passed declaring that all athletes under eighteen years of age do not need an amateur card unless they perform in any way on the national association of that sport requires them to possess a card.

An attempt will be made to permit interior teams to secure international status by the B.C. branch of the United States, without having to go to a great deal of trouble, as is now the case.

The B.C. branch will seek to secure reduction in the affiliation fee with the Canadian body.

A standing vote of condolence was passed to the memory of the late Percy Watson.

MERALOMAS WIN AGAIN

Whip North Shore 19 to 11 to Maintain Unbeaten Record in Grid Loop

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Merlamonas uncovered a potent overhead combination in Joe Ross and Tom Ferris at Athletic Park Saturday to smash out a 19 to 11 victory over North Shore Lions and maintain their unbeaten and untied record in the Big Three football race.

Ross-to-Ferris passes gave the champions two touchdowns in the last half after the score had been tied, 6 to 6, at the interval.

Lions took the defensive from the outset due to Ross's long kicks with the wind. Merlamonas blocked Jim Campbell's kick on the North Shore twenty-five-yard line and on the ensuing play Jack Riley shake-hipped Adams through the entire team to score the first touchdown.

Most of the play ranged in centre field in the second quarter until Elmer Boyes, North Shore started whipping passes to bl Howard Downey, who scored on long pass to the corner of the field. Charlie Bullock converted. Ross kicked to the deadline to tie the score before the half ended.

Jackie May was rouged by Ferris on Ross' long kick to start the third session. A Ross-to-Ferris pass added to the Meraloma score and Ross converted. The Boyes-Downey combination went to work again and Lions hung up another major score. As the final quarter opened, Riles returned Bullock's kick to the defense line for a single point. Ross and Ferris finished the scoring with two pretty forward passes for a touch down. Ross missed his conversion attempt.

Savage Returns Hockey Contract

Calgary, Oct. 14.—Gordon "Tony" Savage, defence player for Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, said here yesterday he would rather quit the game than accept the contract offered him for the 1933-34 campaign.

"The contract the Canadiens sent me calls for too great a cut in salary and I have returned it stating my terms," he stated. "If they are not met I will remain in Red Deer for the winter."

Strong Entry For First Swimming League Gala Wednesday

THE SPORTS MIRROR

VICTORY BY Orilla Terriers over Richmond, Farmers in three straight games in the Canadian box lacrosse final, saw the wise boys go for another spill on the sand. After the Terriers, eastern Canada Champions, had taken Richmond for a ride in the first two engagements, the fellows who are always coming out with the remarks that certain games are fixed, winked in what they considered a knowing manner and they declared Richmond were a cinch to win the next game and prolong the play-off. We hear that some of them even went so far as to even bet money. How they were taken for a ride.

These same chaps are the ones that are always shouting about horse races, hockey games and other athletic engagements being arranged to finish certain ways. How foolish they are. They fail to realize just how impossible it would be to fix any game in which a good number of people participate. In the first place it would take thousands of dollars and in the second the so-called fixers would be open to blackmail for the rest of their lives.

Writing in his column in the Edmonton Journal, George MacIntosh, has the following interesting comment to make on the Northwestern Hockey League prospects for the coming season as far as the Calgary and Edmonton clubs are concerned. "Last season the Northwestern loop, with Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton represented, was anything but a success from the standpoint of the two Alberta clubs. The Calgary entry, headed by Sam Timmins and Gordon McFarlane, folded up very completely before the end of the playing schedule, while the Edmonton club finished considerably in the red. So far as Calgary is concerned, conditions have changed a lot. With the installation of an artificial plant in the Victoria Park arena, there will be no more ice worries, and chances are that if the city had a pro team the attendance would be considerably improved. Uncertainty of ice conditions always have been a big drawback in the south in the past, but with that difficulty overcome, eventually some hardy Calgarian is prepared to take another whirl in the pro loop. There wouldn't have been an application for a franchise unless there was a backer ready to stand behind it with some real money."

"Patronage for pro hockey here last season was hardly up to the average, mostly because a weak Eskimo team started badly and never looked like getting anywhere until it was too late in the season."

"There is little doubt that attendance figures here could be improved by a 'let over' of a year ago, but whether the improvement would be big enough to make another plunge into the Northwestern league a successful venture is open to argument. Trekking back and forth to the coast is an expensive business, and most folks on this side of the mountains believe that the coast clubs should form a league of their own. There isn't any doubt that the teams, Calgary and Edmonton should be associated with the Regina and Saskatoon, and if that loop cannot be re-organized now it might be a part of wisdom to wait until it could."

Presentation of automobiles and gifts to athletes often brings smiles to those "in on the know." It is known of an outstanding hockey player who had his picture taken in front of his own car, and the builders of the sedan were, for a consideration, permitted to advertise that they had given the car to the player in question.

Twenty-three years ago New York admires presented an automobile to the late Christy Mathewson, with the guarantee that it would travel forty miles an hour. At that time Hube Marquard, the erratic left-hander, had just won sixteen games in succession, and he recanted the fact that he had been overlooked. So in some mysterious way it was arranged a few weeks later that "friends of the Rube" were going to give him an even costlier car. The ceremony was repeated, and while the Rube played Marquard was in his glory. But came retribution. About a month later a stranger appeared in the Giants' dressing-room, and cornered Marquard. "Are you Mr. Marquard?" he said, and being assured that he was talking to the "Rube," he set down this ultimatum: "Well, on account of you having failed to pay more than the first installment on that car, we'll have to take it back."

City's Aces To Participate In Event At Garden

Crack Y.M.C.A. Squad Will Be Hard Pressed To Keep Unbeaten Record

FIRST EVENT AT 8 O'CLOCK

Y.M.C.A. swimmers, hitherto unbeaten in galas of the Vancouver Island Swimming League, will face possibly the biggest test in the history of their participation in loop fixtures on Wednesday evening as they stack up against Pacific and Victoria amateur clubs in the opening water meet of the winter season at the Crystal Garden. The first event is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Members of the V.A.S.C. and Pacific Clubs certain to compete pressed hard going for the Flying Y squad. The association performers will probably have to depend to a large extent on second and third places to boost their chances, although they rate fair bids in some sprints and in the men's relay.

FAVORITES

Those on the inside picked Bobby Moss, young V.A.S.C. performer, for the fifty yards freestyle junior boys' event, although he will face good opposition from Bill Noel and Gordie Lawrence of the Y. In the junior girls' fifty yards freestyle, Monica Trump, if she qualifies for the age restriction, should stage a merry battle with Helen Manning and Rae Saunders in an all V.A.S.C. fight.

Molly Wallis, young Pacific star, appears a standout for the women's 100 yards freestyle, while Harris Munie, Y.M.C.A., and Bobby Moss, V.A.S.C., should put up a good battle in the similar event for men.

In the 150 yards medley relay for women, the V.A.S.C. team possibly composed of Monica Trump, D. Dale Johnson and a third member, should give the Pacific Club plenty of opposition, while the Y.M.C.A. first team, composed of Don Davidson, smart backstroke performer; Harris Munie and Ivor Fuller are favored to take the men's medley team event.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

The women's 200 yards freestyle relay should be a three-cornered fight, with the Pacific Club emerging victors.

The Y will probably annex the men's 200 yards relay, with Ivor Fuller, Wes Clark, Jack Ravellins and Harris Munie providing the power.

Irrespective of the results, some keen races should be seen, with the juniors claiming almost as much interest as the seniors.

Y.M.C.A. ENTRIES

The Y.M.C.A. entries for the event follow:

50 yards freestyle, junior boys—Bill Noel, G. Lawrence and E. Blankinsop.

50 yards freestyle, junior girls—O. French and M. Dewhurst.

100 yards freestyle, women—R. Davidson.

100 yards freestyle, men—Harris Munie, Don Davidson and Gordie Lawrence.

Medley relay, women, 150 yards—Olive French, E. Bremner and Ruby Davidson.

Medley relay, men, 150 yards—Don Davidson, Harris Munie and Ivor Fuller.

Y.M.C.A. second team—Bob Smith, Len Clark and Jack Mutton.

Y.M.C.A. handicapped, fifty yards—R. Smith, G. Rennie, Ruth Crowhurst, Phyllis Addison, Bob McVey, Stan Lawrence, Gordon Taylor, Madge Carter, Bob Doherty, E. Blankinsop and N. Young.

200 yards relay, women—Helen Unsworth, Olive French, M. Dewhurst and R. Davidson.

200 yards relay, men, first team—Ivor Fuller, Wes Clark, Jack Ravellins and Harris Munie; second team, Don Davidson, Jack Mutton, Bill Noel and Bill Von Druten.

Helen Stephens Is Easy Winner

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 14.—Elizabeth Zay, seventeen, the "mystery sprinter" of the Ozarks, was just another racer to-day to Helen Stephens. "The Missouri Flyer" ran Elizabeth into a one-sided defeat Saturday in two match-race dashes.

Miss Zay, Springfield, Mo., was beaten by ten yards in the fifty-yard dash and was left so far behind in the 100-yard dash that she quit after seventy-five yards.

Miss Stephens, who has beaten Stella Walsh, covered fifty yards in 5.9 seconds and 100 in 10.9.

SINGLE POINT WINS FEATURE

PAUL RUNYAN WINS $5,000 OPEN GOLF

White Plains, N.Y. Pro Scores 283 For 72 Holes of Louisville Tournament; Harry Cooper Takes Second Position With 285

His seventy-two-hole total was 283, one under par.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Strange as it seems, the anableps is a fish that has one pair of eyes for looking at things above the water. Yet, it has only two eyeballs. Each eyeball is divided so that there is an upper and a lower pupil in each eye. The lower pupil is used to look downward for underwater enemies, while the upper is used to sight food morsels floating on the surface. Anableps is native to the American tropics.

Silver, pure and untarnished, has a lustrous white color. Light that is reflected back and forth between silver surfaces, however, takes on a yellow color. If silver is hammered into very thin pieces, the light shining through it assumes a bluish color. The vapor of silver is distinctly green, while the metal is a dull gray when reduced to a fine powder. Silver is permitted to tarnish it becomes brownish, although this color is really silver sulphide.

Galusha A. Grow, born in 1832, was first elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1850, serving as its youngest member. He served for several years, being elected speaker in 1861. He lost the election of 1862 and subsequent elections. He re-entered the House, however, forty-three years after his first election, when in 1893 he was appointed to finish the term of Representative Lilly who died. He served four more terms and then retired.

To-morrow: Tomb for a Tooth.

Glover Nets Three Times For Grimsby

Plays Leading Role in Club's Surprising Victory Over Sunderland in English Football; Wylie Drives Home Four Goals For Partick in Scottish Loop

London, Oct. 14.—Chesterfield, third division soccer club, to-day has the distinction of being the only unbeaten club in the English League. Until Saturday the honor had been shared with Huddersfield Town, leader of the first league, and Tranmere Rovers, northern section rivals.

Huddersfield's record was marred by Middlesbrough, who won at home 4 to 2, but the Town is still top-dog in the division as Sunderland and Derby County, its closest rivals, both had their colors lowered. Tranmere surrendered the northern section leadership to Lincoln City by losing 4 to 0 at Wrexham. Lincoln and Tranmere are now bracketed in first place, Chesterfield is fourth in the league.

In the game at Middlesbrough, Huddersfield started like winners, scoring after four minutes' play, through Williams. Yorston equalized before the interval. The home side dominated play in the second half, Coleman, Chadwick and Yorston netting while Mountford reduced the margin by converting a penalty kick.

GROUND RECORD
A new ground record was set at Stamford Bridge, where Chelsea and Arsenal battled to a 1 to 1 draw. A crowd of 22,996 passed through the turnstiles. Barnsley tallied for the pensioners, and Crayston for the gunners in the second half.

Grimsby Town's 4 to 0 victory over Sunderland was as good as it was unexpected. Glover, the Fishermen's centre forward, netted three goals. Craven getting the fourth. Hooper of Sheffield, Wednesday scored the only goal of the game with Derby County but it was enough to rob the County of league leadership.

Blackburn Rovers pulled off a great feat in winning 4 to 1 from Manchester City. Hamilton netted twice for the winners and McGrogan and Pryde got one each while Tomland was responsible for the City's lone tally. Bolton Wanderers defeated Aston Villa 2 to 1 at Villa Park. Aston Villa's goal was scored by Houghton and Houghton counted for Aston Villa from a penalty.

SECOND DIVISION
The second division leaders, Leicester City, had an off day, losing 3 to 0 at Bury. After a scoreless first half, Buttery, Mathews and Graham tallied for the home team. Charlton Athletic secured their 2 to 1 victory at Newcastle. They scored twice in six minutes through Welsh and Allen. The United rallied before half-time, Harris eventually getting the ball in the net from a goalmouth melee.

Reading consolidated its position at the top of the table in the southern section by defeating Bristol Rovers 3 to 2 after a hard tussle. Harwood opened the scoring for the visitors when Whitaker, Reading's goalie, fumbled a shot. The Biscuitmen rallied heroically but Ellis, in the Rovers' goal, played a magnificent game and it was not until a few minutes before the interval that Tait put the scores level. On changing over, Patterson put the home team ahead, but Watlington equalized for Bristol from a penalty. McCoughthead gave Reading the victory.

Outplayed by Wrexham, Tranmere Rovers lost 4 to 0. Except for occasional sallies which yielded no advantage because of their forwards' wildness in front of goal, Tranmere were on the defensive for long periods. McCartney (2), Fryer and Richards were Wrexham's marksmen.

Glasgow, Oct. 14.—With Rangers and Celtic playing in the final for the Glasgow Cup, Scotland's League soccer programme Saturday lacked its usual interest. Aberdeen took full advantage of the opportunity to pull out in front in the premier division of the league, defeating Arbroath 1 to 0.

The Dons appeared to take things easy at Arbroath and Armstrong's goal that gave them victory was scored late in the game.

A goal by Connor enabled Aldrieonians to win their home game with Queen of The South. They had a slight edge on the play. St. Johnstone showed Ay United into the league cellar by winning 2 to 1 at Somerset Park. Lyle and Ferguson made it 2 to 0 in the first half; but Ay rallied later and McCall reduced the margin. Dundee and Kilmarnock fought a scoreless and even draw and the equal division of the points between Dunfermline and Hamilton Academicals was also a fair result. All the four goals in this game were scored in the second half. McGowan and Thomson scored for the pleasant outfit and Wilson and Reid for the Aces.

MOTHERWELL IN FORM
Hibernians won a comfortable 3 to 0 victory over Albion Rovers. Brady scoring twice while Bruce put in three times in succession.

Mainlander To Oppose Parker

Victoria Boxer Will Meet Currie-Smith, Vancouver, Here Wednesday

The opening bout will be at 8:30 o'clock.

The mainland boy defeated Parker in their previous meeting, to win the bantamweight title of British Columbia. Both boys will be out for knockouts and a thrilling bout is promised. The fans.

Tommy Drysdale is endeavoring to have the rounds advanced to six instead of the usual five.

Rex Carey, clever Scottish boxer, will also meet an opponent, yet to be selected. It is expected it will be Duke Heikkinen, Seattle, who made such a fine showing against Muzz Patrick, last week.

Reg Hopkins, rough and ready man, who has taken on and defeated the best of the island's wrestlers, will receive an acid test when he meets Scotty McKay, Vancouver. McKay has a fine record.

Rudy Holstein, rugged Souke brawler, will square-off with Doug Smith, Fifth Regiment fighter, in the 145-pound class.

Al Duval, Eric Whitehead, Bill Stein, Al Garnot and other local mat and fisticuff stars will also perform on the card.

ST. SAVIOURS TAKE MATCH

Defeat Vancouver Rangers 2 to 1 in Intercity League Football

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—St. Saviours won their first game of the Inter-city Soccer League schedule here Saturday, defeating the Vancouver Rangers, 2 to 1.

Although the Saints were held to two goals they had the best of play through most of the match. Eric Camp, former looo player, starred at right-half, and Oasle Ross at left-half and Hugh Hunter, centre-half, completed a powerful intermediate line.

Bob McMurdo, St. Saviours' centre-forward, started the scoring when he took a short pass from Bruce close to the goal mouth and kicked it into the net.

Glog was called on to do some neat goal tending through the rest of the half in the Rangers' net. The Saints' wings were working well, but the inside forwards, Gardner and Bradbury, were rather off form, and the period ended with no more scoring.

Soon after play resumed Gardner took a corner kick from Moffatt and slipped the ball to Bradbury, who steered it into the net for the Saints' second counter.

RANGERS SCORE
Rangers began to battle in earnest and fifteen minutes before time Wilkinson crashed a rebound of Easley's foul kick into the corner of the net, giving Rabbit no chance to save.

The Rangers kept up the attack, and Rabbit, former St. Andrews goalie, was hard pressed, but with the help of a strong defence line, was able to keep the ball out of the net during the rest of the game.

The teams:
St. Saviours—Rabbit, Heath, Ingrassie, Camp, Hunter, Ross, Moffatt, Gardner, McMurdo, Bradbury and Platt.
Rangers—Glog, Easley, Skilling, Lawley, Magill, Morley, Jack Johnson, Wilkinson, Larson, Keddie and Kerfoot. Sub: A. Waugh.

Flour Trucks In Seattle Guarded

Associated Press

Five police cars and policemen were at the plant, Ray Houghton, twenty-one-year-old truck driver picket, was arrested on an open charge.

O. D. Fisher, company president, said the production unit of the plant would resume as soon as "it is safe to bring in the workers." ### CITY WELL UP IN MEDICINE

Dr. T. W. A. Gray Tells Gyros of Latest Developments in Science

Victoria is kept constantly in touch with the latest progress of medical science, Dr. T. W. A. Gray told members of the Gyro Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

It was sometimes claimed by persons unaware of the facts, said Dr. Gray, that Victoria, by its insular position, was behind the times in this direction. Actually there was a medical conference each week at which the latest reports from other communities were discussed and the post-mortems of the previous week were reviewed.

In addition there was a voluntary cancer board, which made it its business to keep up with the latest knowledge connected with the fighting of the disease.

"At the moment one of the greatest problems is to bring people early into contact with the scientific knowledge available at this time," said Dr. Gray.

PERIODICAL EXAMINATIONS

He stressed the need for regular periodical health examinations, through which the chances of the development of chronic disease could be completely eliminated.

Dr. Gray traced the history of medicine in all its major phases from its real beginning in the fifth century B.C. It was Hippocrates who at that time removed the blame for sickness from the shoulders of the gods to those of man. He first made medicine a matter of common sense.

The next great figure came about the year 200 A.D. in the person of Galen, whose theories dominated the medical world for the next 1,500 years. In the sixteenth century of this era, when Rome had been sacked by Alaric and the Goths, a spirit of discouragement took hold on the world. In the belief that the world was soon to come to an end, even the precautions of normal cleanliness were discarded.

Later, when nothing happened, people turned to the practice of their bodily as well as spiritual comfort. Strange remedies from text-books were the fashion. One such cure, sovereign for snake bite and a host of other troubles, had sixty-six ingredients and was to be taken twice daily for ten years.

RENAISSANCE
In the fifteenth century, with the new knowledge brought to Europe after the fall of Constantinople and with the return of the Crusaders, medicine developed suddenly.

In 1543 dissection was started by a Belgian, giving the world its first accurate knowledge of human anatomy. Shortly afterwards Harvey discovered and demonstrated the principles of the circulation of the blood.

Two centuries ago John Hunter examined the principles of modern surgery, and a dairyman related to Jenner his observations of the immunity to smallpox of persons who had had cow pox, leading to the introduction of vaccination.

Less than 100 years ago Long, a southern Georgia doctor, applied to surgery the effects of ether noted by young bloods on "ether jags," and anesthesia was started.

Pasteur, working on problems of disease in silkworms and wine, formulated the theory of attenuated organisms, bringing in its train both the pasteurization of milk and the manufacture of serums.

Later, about 1870, introduced antiseptics to hospitals, and almost completely eliminated an 80 per cent death rate from open wounds.

Modern developments included the X-ray, the discovery of insulin and the system of liver extract injections for anemia.

Dr. Gray mentioned briefly the subject of cancer and some of the treatments for it.

"Cancer," he said, "is a group of cells not growing up constitutionally and becoming cancerous."

These communities could be eliminated by surgery, by deep X-ray therapy, and by radium, provided they were caught early enough.

Dr. Gray was introduced by Angus McIntyre.

The provincial government to-day made a grant of $100 to the Royal Canadian Humane Association.

LEPER WORKER VISITS CITY

H. N. Konkle of Toronto Tells of Noble Work Being Done By Mission

The commendable work being done throughout the world by the Mission to Lepers was related to The Times this morning by H. N. Konkle, Canadian secretary to the mission, situated in Toronto, who is visiting the city for a few days.

In so many cases the lepers are in poverty, he said, and thousands of them go from place to place begging for food. When they go to the leper homes they are cared for lovingly and tenderly, so that it becomes a heaven to them.

IN CANADA

In Canada there are about sixteen lepers, with five on Bentinck Island, near Victoria, and eleven at Tracadie, N.B. In the United States there are 500, with a possibility of 1,200; in Formosa, 4,000; in Korea, 20,000; in Japan, 40,000; in China, 10,000; in Burma, 15,000; in India, 300,000 with a possibility of 1,000,000; in China, 500,000 with a possibility of 1,000,000.

Africa is honeycombed with leprosy and some have estimated 600,000. In South America it is also very prevalent. The estimate for the world is 3,000,000, which is very conservative and the correct estimate anywhere between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000.

The Mission to Lepers is now working on behalf of the lepers of the world in over twenty-five different countries at over 100 stations and co-operates with thirty-seven denominations and missionary societies.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL

The work of The Mission to Lepers is interdenominational and all the denominations and missionary societies should be interested in and help towards the cause. The policy of the mission is to go to various districts and establish a leper home, providing for all the lepers who come to them and whom they can accommodate. The missionary society working there then allows their missionary to give part time to supervise the leper home and give Christian teaching. The mission works hand in hand with the various denominations and missionary societies.

Petroglyphs To Be Preserved

Indian Carvings at Chase River Protected as "Historic Object"

Strange Indian carvings on rocks just north of Chase River, Vancouver Island, will be preserved for future generations to gaze upon, and, if possible, learn their secret, as the result of an order-in-council passed by the provincial government to-day.

Under the Historic Objects Preservation Act, these weird carvings, known as petroglyphs were declared "an historic object." This means they will be protected from defacement by tourists or other visitors, under penalties provided by the act. Notices to this effect will be posted.

GREAT MUSIC IN LOHENGRIN

Some of Wagner's Best Will Be Heard Here Friday and Saturday Evenings

Based on the German version of the Arthurian legends, Wagner's "Lohengrin," which will be produced by the Victoria Civic Opera Society under the direction of Basil Horsfall at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, contains some of the most beautiful operatic music ever composed.

The demand of King Henry of Ger- many, as to the cause of the state of anarchy in Brabant, is the basic structure for a base solo of melodic outline and great strength. Frederick of Telramund, in response, sings his narrative, and boldly accuses Elsa, his ward of the murder of her brother. Elsa is summoned to answer the charge, and she sings the exquisite "Dream Song" in which she tells of her vision of the knight in shining armour who will be her champion.

Also in Act One is the arrival of Lohengrin, who approaches in a boat drawn by a swan. In ringing style he states his purpose to defend the maiden so unjustly accused by her enemies. Lohengrin and Frederick engage in mortal combat, according to the custom of the times. Lohengrin is the victor. Elsa is declared innocent, her troth is pledged to her champion and the curtain falls on general rejoicing.

Guy Kibbee at The Columbia

Guy Kibbee, who has the leading male role in the Warner Bros. production, "Mary Jane's Pa," which opened at the Columbia Theatre to-day, knows how to roll his own.

In one scene he is called upon to roll a cigarette. Director William Wellman was a bit worried about the scene until he spoke to Kibbee.

"That'll be easy," said Kibbee. "Just give me a few minutes to practice."

After wasting half a bag of tobacco, Kibbee could roll 'em with the best cow punchers.

Kibbee explained that he had rolled his cigarettes for years when he could not afford to buy tailor-made cigar- ettes. He was out of practice but picked up the old trick in a few minutes.

"Strange Wives" is the second fea- ture picture on the programme.

Greta Garbo at Little Orpheum

Greta Garbo, in the opinion of Herbert Marshall, noted English actor, is the most natural person he has ever known.

Marshall appears as Garbo's lead- ing man in her new Metro-Goldwyn- Mayer picture, "The Painted Veil," which opened at the Little Orpheum Theatre to-day.

"I had not met Miss Garbo until the day before my first scene with her," said Marshall. "At the time, I was making additional scenes for another picture on an adjoining stage when I was asked to make a make-up test with Miss Garbo."

"Roberta" at the Playhouse Theatre

Out of Tolstoy's great tragic love story a new Garbo is born. As "Anna Karenina," Garbo is not only the dramatic acknowledged peer of the gen- eral actresses, but is also a more beautiful, brilliant and spiritedly natural character than she has been for years.

In the inspired performance of Frederic March, the sensational work of Freddie Bartholomew and the un- derstanding support of Basil Rathbone, Maureen O'Sullivan, Reginald Owen and the others, there is a wealth of entertainment.

THE CLASS IN HUMANITIES at one of our leading institutions of learning is reported to have had an unexpected increase in attendance since one of the professors announced that he would start a course of lectures on HOW TO CHOOSE A WIFE.

Heretofore men have married on hunches and trusted to luck that they would get a winner, with the result that most of them guessed wrong and the land has been filled with the sound and fury of quarrelling husbands and wives, and the noise of wrecked homes, so it is encouraging to learn that the youths in our colleges are beginning to take marriage seriously and to devote as much time to studying the points of a wife as they would of a dog or a horse that they were considering acquiring.

Now, just what the learned professor is going to tell these young students about how to choose a wife I do not know, but if I were going to hand them out some information on this subject, I would say: First, pick out a girl for a wife who has brains and a funny bone and a domestic complex, and then let nature take its course.

When you choose a wife, pay more attention to what is inside a girl's head than what is outside of it. Any beauty shop can turn a girl into a red-head or a platinum blonde or what have you, and put a grimace into the straightest hair, but if God hasn't given a girl intelligence it's just too bad. There is no way by which her husband can buy her what she lacks or change a little nitwit into a rational, sensible human being.

In the course of time the living picture turns into a chrome, but brains improve with age and experience. The woman who is merely pretty depreciates every year. The one who is intelligent gains in attractiveness continually. Figure out for yourself which is the best investment for the long pull. Also, if you want a wife you can really boss and who will be easy to live with, marry a woman with sense. She will be amenable to argument. She will see your side of a question. You can teach her, improve her, change her, broaden her point of view, but you can do nothing with a fool. She is set and nothing can ever budge her from her position.

Pick out for a wife a girl whose laugh is hung on a hair trigger. A gay-hearted girl. A merry girl. A jolly girl. A girl who laughs off the misadventures of life instead of making tragedies of them. There are lots of things in marriage over which we either have to laugh or cry and three lucky differences between having a wife who makes a funny story out of the time you got lit at the Elks' banquet and didn't get home until morning and the one who makes it a text for curtain lectures for thirty years.

Pick out a girl for a wife who is a good talker. Who can entertain and amuse you after the love-dovey stuff is out. Marriage is for a long time and it seems longer if you have to spend your evenings with a wife who bores you. Most husbands who take to stepping out do so in search of the diverting companionship they neglected to provide themselves with at home.

Stephenson rated being a good gossip as one of the chief virtues of a wife, and certainly the woman who reads and is up on the news of the day and the last book, and who can't go down to the butcher shop at the corner without seeing something funny and collecting an interesting little budget of news, is a much more agreeable life companion than the one whose whole conversational repertoire consists in reciting the litany of her husband's shortcomings and lamentations over her trouble with the children and the price of groceries and how hard she has to work.

Pick out a girl who considers matrimony a career instead of a chore, and whose ambition is to be a wife and mother and have a home of her own. Outside careers and matrimony do not mix any more than oil and water for the very conclusive reason that nobody can make a success of two diametrically opposite jobs at the same time. When a man marries he doesn't want a lawyer or a doctor or an opera singer. He wants a home-maker and he wants a wife who is glad she married him instead of thinking she made a sacrifice and who is willing to make him happy and comfortable instead of giving her best to her public.

And furthermore, a girl is wise to marry a girl who already knows how to cook and run a house instead of letting her learn her trade at the expense of his digestion and pocketbook. A lot of the happiness in marriage consists in having good food, a clean hearth and a thrifflly managed home where the domestic machinery runs on oiled bearings.

In choosing a wife consider well her disposition because that is what you have to live with. Pick out a girl who is sweet-tempered, unselfish and affectionate, for not all the beauty in the world nor all the brilliance atones to a man for having a wife who is a virago or a nagger or a human frigidaire.

The secret of how to be happy through married for a man consists in choosing the right girl for a wife. If you pick out one who checks up on these points you'll never wonder what made you stick your neck in the halter.

Uncle Wiggily And the Owl

By HOWARD R. GARRIS

One day Mr. Twitstail, the fat pig gentleman whose cough was cured by the coltsfoot candy Uncle Wiggily gave him, hopped into the Hollow Stump Hungalow. "I have bad news for you, Wiggily," he said.

"Bad news?" exclaimed Mr. Longears.

"Yes," went on Mr. Twitstail. "Coming through the woods just now I saw Hooter, the big owl, perched on a tree not far from your hungalow. He was staring with his big, round eyes and I think he was looking for one of your little rabbits to pounce on."

"Very likely," said Uncle Wiggily. "Hooter, the owl, is very fond of tender little rabbits and small mice. I hope he doesn't catch any of my bunnies nor Jollie or Jillic Longtail. I must telephone to Mrs. Longtail to watch her nice children."

"Then Hooter, the owl, is dangerous, is he?" asked the pig.

"Very dangerous to little animals," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Of course, he couldn't get you, Mr. Twitstail, as you're so big and fat."

"Then this is one time I'm glad I'm fat!" chuckled the pig.

"MUST DO SOMETHING"

"But I must do something about Hooter," went on the rabbit gentleman. "I don't want him perching in trees near my hungalow waiting to catch Baby Bunty, Jipie, Jangle or some other little animal. I am going to drive him away."

"How will you do that, then, even if you are a grown rabbit, and scratch you with his claws or bite you with his hooked beak. How can you drive him away?"

"By playing a little dark trick," said Uncle Wiggily. "I know how to fool Hooter, the owl, and I'll tell you. Then you can watch me do it."

"An owl's eyes," said Uncle Wiggily, "are like mine and mine are made so that he can see to catch rabbits and other little animals after dark. An owl, like a cat, though neither the owl nor a cat can see in pitch dark blackness. They couldn't see if shut up in a room without windows or doors. But out in the woods there is always a little light, though it seems dark to us, and that's why owls and cats hunt best at night."

"A strange thing about an owl is that he can't look up or down or sideways by rolling his eyes. He must turn his whole head from side to side if he wants to watch anything that is moving. That's how I'm going to fool Hooter. I want you to come and help me."

"POORING HOOTER"

"Surely I will," granted the pig. He led Uncle Wiggily to where he had seen Hooter. There was the big owl perched

Boy Killed When Gun Discharged

Associated Press

Mount Vernon, Wash., Oct. 14.—Victim of the first hunting fatality of the 1935 season in this district, an eleven-year-old boy died yesterday from a wound caused by the accidental discharge of his own shotgun.

Dick Ingman, eleven, son of C. O. Ingman, Smith Island, took the gun along with him and his mother, Maurice, thirteen, left their house to get the cows.

Dick started to unload the gun when they returned. It discharged, the load striking him in the neck.

An Indian is not limited to one name all his life. His birth name is used until he wins a tribal name. This is given him by a chief and he must accept it. However, he is given many chances to improve his standing and each additional feat of bravery brings him a better name.

GEN. GREELY SERIOUSLY ILL

Man Who Waged Battle With Arctic Near Death at Ninety-one Years

Washington, Oct. 14.—Fifty-one years ago Major-General Adolphus Washington Greely waged a seemingly hopeless battle against the terrors of an Arctic winter. Yesterday in an ivy-covered wing of Walter Reed Hospital here, death stood near the ninety-one-year-old explorer. He is semi-conscious much of the time, his heart irregular.

On July 4, 1881, the Greely expeditionary ship, the Proteus, cleared Newfoundland with a party of twenty-five. After penetrating farther into the Arctic than man had ever gone before and carrying out their plan to explore Grinnell Land, due north of Hudson Bay and far beyond the Arctic Circle, Greely and his men returned to their base camp to await the return of their steamer. Greely was to remain at his base camp until September 1, 1883, and, if he then had received no word, was to trek southward.

Two ships failed to reach the camp and the men started southward, trekking through temperatures of sixty below zero. Their rations became almost exhausted. In January the first man died. The hands and feet of another were frozen. One, charged with stealing food, was executed.

Greely lectured on geography and mathematics to distract his men from their suffering.

Finally in June, with only seven men left of his original party, Greely was found by a rescue ship near Cape Sabine, 200 miles south of his base camp.

For almost half a century, Greely's work was not honored officially. But last March he received a Congressional Medal of Honor.

STATES ADUWA TO BE RETAKEN

Ethiopian Emperor States
Italian Annexation Will Be Overturned

The following article was written for the Associated Press by Jane D. Orth of New York, woman correspondent in Ethiopia who was granted an interview by Emperor Haile Selassie.

Addis Ababa, Oct. 14.—Emperor Haile Selassie, discussing General Emilio de Bono's proclamation annexing Aduwa yesterday, the name of Italy, told me to-day his proud, unconquered warriors would never tolerate permanent occupation of that historic city by the Fascists.

"Although Aduwa has no special military value, either to Ethiopia or Italy, it possesses great sentimental interest for us. For it was there we won our liberty from Italy and we shall do it again," the Emperor said.

"But do not let the world believe this sacred shrine of our liberty will remain in Italy's hands. I should like to see a single Italian soldier stand on the soil of Aduwa or Aksum. We will not tolerate a burglar in our house."

HOLLOW VICTORY

"In fulfillment of our own special strategic plan, we allowed the Italians to occupy the town without real resistance on our part.

"If I were an Italian, I should blush at the boast of capturing an unarmed, undefended town. But I know the Italian people are emotional and sentimental and love the theatrical.

"But do not let the world believe this sacred shrine of our liberty will remain in Italy's hands. I should like to see a single Italian soldier stand on the soil of Aduwa or Aksum. We will not tolerate a burglar in our house."

SURPRISED AT APPEARANCE

Entering the Emperor's ultra-modern palace, overlooking the roof of the African world, I was struck to find sitting on an Oriental, cushioned, crimsoned-draped throne a diminutive, unpretentious man who graciously arose and extended a small, almost feminine hand, in a cordial greeting.

By ANDREW BERDING

Associated Press Correspondent
Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, 4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 13 (By Wireless to Rome).—Italy proclaimed annexation to-day of her newly captured territory in northern Ethiopia, of which this fallen city of vengeance is the center.

General Emilio de Bono, High Commissioner of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland and commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in East Africa, formally took possession of the land wrested from Ethiopia in the name of King Victor Emmanuel.

General de Bono, with General Maravigna, commander of the army corps which captured Aduwa last Sunday, and Italian Consul Francesco, arrived in Addis Ababa, where they were welcomed by the Abuna or Bishop of Aduwa.

Later Italian forces took the Ethiopian sacred city of Aksum without firing a shot, the delego or governor coming here and making his submission to General Maravigna.

GOVERNOR THERE

The Governor of Aksum, accompanied by clergy of the Ethiopian church, traveled twenty miles to surrender formally to the Italian authorities. All warriors who had been holding the sacred city evacuated.

The entire civilian population indicated its submission to General de Bono.

The Italians postponed any attack on the center of Ethiopia's Coptic Christian Church to avoid arousing the religious feelings of the populace.

THIRTY-HOUR WEEK SOUGHT

Associated Press
Atlantic City, N.J., Oct. 14.—The American Federation of Labor convention voted unanimously to-day to fight for a thirty-hour week through United States business and industry.

"We are going out of here and fight for this as we have never fought before," shouted William Green, Federation president, just before the convention approved the shorter work week committee's report that the Federation should use both its economic strength and its influence in the United States Congress to reduce working hours.

POSITION OF SCRUTINEERS

Mr. Castonguay said he had told returning officers outside scrutineers were at liberty to tell voters the candidates had withdrawn, but that inside scrutineers must not volunteer such information, although they should provide it if asked.

No Information On Withdrawals

Montreal Officers Do Not

DEL FONTAINE'S APPEAL FAILS

Winnipeg Boxer Loses Plea Against London Murder Conviction

Canadian Press
London, Oct. 14.—The high court to-day dismissed the appeal of Raymond Bousquet, Winnipeg boxer, known as Del Fontaine, against conviction and sentence of death for the murder of a London waitress, Hilda Mook.

Bousquet was found guilty at the Old Bailey for the shooting of the girl.

MENTAL CONDITION

At the trial counsel for the boxer strove for a verdict of guilty, but insane, producing witnesses who declared Bousquet's mind had been damaged in his ring career.

St. Henry Currie Bennett, counsel for Bousquet, in presenting his plea to the high court, urged the judge had omitted to put certain matters before the jury.

He drew attention to the evidence concerning the condition of Bousquet's mind as a result of his fights, and said moreover he was worrying about the future and the possible effect of the loss of Miss Mook's affections.

Lord Hewart, in giving judgment, said the jury might well have thought the evidence showed Bousquet knew what he was doing and that it was wrong. The court concluded there was nothing in the appeal except what arose from the charge of murder.

Third Parties Slipping Badly

Drive For Majority Government Gains Momentum
With "Strays" Returning

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Reports to the Financial Post from all sectors of the election front strongly indicate the beginning of a powerful move to avoid political stalemate.

"The result is reflected in a steady improvement in Liberal prospects until, on the eve of polling day a Liberal majority in the new House of Commons appears to be assured," the Post says.

"It is equally apparent that the fortunes of the third parties, with the possible exception of the Social Crediters, which is operating within a small area, are rapidly on the decline and that only the nearness of election day will save them from almost complete eclipse.

The explanation of the collapse of the Stevens campaign is due, it is believed, to two causes. The drive for majority government is developing with great power and appears to be riding rough-shod over the hopes of the third groups. But more than that, the Stevens party is feeling the desperate pinch of financial depression.

BACK TO THE FOLD

The losses of the third parties are undoubtedly the gains of the two old parties. Premier R. B. Bennett's last ditch campaign seems to have won him the applause of the entire country, irrespective of party, and seems to have brought back to his fold tens of thousands of wayward Conservatives who had been letting their eyes stray in the direction of Reconstruction. So too, with an army of Liberals who had found little enough to cheer about in the speeches of Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King.

But what the Liberal strength was never placed lower than 100 seats and the final pick-up has carried the party probably well into the clear majority territory. Mr. Bennett started out rated far below his former colleague but now most estimates give him sixty seats or better.

"It is thought more than possible that the closing day of the campaign will see a rapid crystallization of opinion which may either convert the present Liberal swing into something approaching a landslide, or bring the Conservatives within striking distance of their chief opponents. The rest of the field, it is thought, is no longer in the running.

"But even Ottawa is not infallible in election forecasts."

STAGE RIOT IN MONTREAL

Political Outbreak in Youville
Area Over When Police Arrive

Canadian Press
Montreal, Oct. 14.—A broken bottle flung with blood was the only sign of trouble that awaited police who answered a riot call in Youville Square to-day. Twenty political partisans who had taken part in a street fight a few minutes before had jumped into automobiles and driven away before the officers arrived.

The disturbance started when a large black sedan containing five men cut in front of a similarly loaded machine and forced it over to the curb. The occupants of both cars jumped out and started a free-for-all. Three other automobiles bearing three to five passengers stopped and their occupants joined in the struggle.

In the excitement one man was knocked unconscious with a bottle.

THREE MEN IN CANOE KILLED

Susbury, Ont., Oct. 14.—Three bodies, identified as Cecil Vesina, Phillip Meun and Anthony Boyer, were recovered yesterday by searchers in Plum Lake, provincial police headquarters reported.

Beatty Denies Stevens Report

Says He Had No Share in Choosing Hon. R. R. Bruce As Candidate

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Sir Edward Beatty denies he had anything to do with the choice of any candidate seeking election in the present campaign. In reply to a somewhat pointed reference made by Hon. R. R. Bruce in a radio address Saturday evening, Sir Edward issued the following statement:

"Hon. R. R. Stevens' genius for inaccurate statements is well known, but in asserting in his radio broadcast on Saturday night that I had a part in the selection of Hon. R. R. Bruce as Liberal candidate in East Kootenay, he seems to have drawn on his imagination to an unusual degree. Naturally, I have not the remotest connection with the selection of the candidates of any political party in Canada. I have never made any representations to Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Woodworth or Mr. Aberhart or to anyone on their behalf, nor have I been consulted by any one of them. Even Mr. Stevens overlooked me."

Col. Roosevelt's Campaign Plans

Disagrees With Borah U.S. Republicans Should Go "Trust-busting"

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, ranking figure in eastern Republicanism, turned a cold shoulder yesterday evening on Senator Borah's proposal to lay the foundation of the 1936 presidential campaign on a "trust-busting" issue.

In a cordial but firm letter to the Idaho Senator, Colonel Roosevelt expressed "entire sympathy" with Senator Borah's attitude toward monopolies in industry, but flatly disagreed with the Senator that business monopoly shaped up as the major issue of the 1936 campaign.

"Overshadowing" this issue, he wrote, were those of "scandalous waste of the people's money," government extravagance, multitudinous taxes, and "attempts that are being made to subvert our type of government."

Japan Declines To Share Navy Talks

Canadian Press from Havas
Tokio, Oct. 14.—Japan will refuse to take part in naval conversations in London on the basis of Britain's recent invitation when its reply is cabled to London this week, the Navy Office spokesman indicated today to Havas.

Without stating the refusal directly, the navy spokesman said: "Our reply to the British invitation to take part in a naval conference will be in conformity with the communication Charge d'Affaires Keunouchi made to London on August 8, a refusal to take part in a conference the basis of whose discussions was limited in advance, as proposed by Great Britain, for advance limitation was not foreseen by the Washington Treaty."

A London dispatch on Saturday said four of the world's naval powers would meet in London before the end of the year regardless of whether Japan would join them or not, according to latest information.

The French and Italian governments had indicated their willingness to take part in preliminary talks, and the United States, which already had engaged in informal conversations on the subject here, also would take part, it was believed.

AUSTRIA BARS ALL ETHIOPIA MOVIES

Associated Press
Vienna, Oct. 14.—An Austrian police decree just out bans all motion pictures with Ethiopian themes. The decree is flippantly described in some quarters as "the first sanction against Ethiopia."

Police said such pictures are "too exciting and likely to give a false impression of Ethiopia."

KILLED BY CAR IN VANCOUVER

Jack Walker Dies Instantly in Street Accident; Inquest Arranged

Associated Press
Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Jack Walker, thirty-five, of 760 Powell Street, was instantly killed at 9:15 Saturday evening when he was struck down by an automobile in the 700 block of East Hastings Street.

Edgar Smith, 1880 East Thirteenth Avenue, alleged driver of the automobile, arrested on a charge of manslaughter, was held on bail of $5,000 pending an inquest to be held in the city morgue.

There is some conflict in the evidence regarding circumstances surrounding the accident. Smith was driving east on Hastings Street and, according to the police, he stated Walker stepped suddenly from the south curb and came in the path of the car. Witnesses, police say, declare the man was walking from the north to south side of Hastings Street when he was struck down. He was carried for some distance after being struck. It is reported. The right hand side of the car was damaged by the impact.

Police rushed the man to St. Paul's Hospital, but he was pronounced dead on reaching there.

It was learned Walker had been attending a party in the Toronto Apartments, 719 East Hastings Street, and had left a suite there to obtain some food for the guests from a nearby bakery when he was struck down.

The deceased man, formerly a private investigator, is survived by relatives in Burnaby.

The highest voltage transmission line to carry electricity under water is that under the Columbia River carrying power to Portland, Ore. Three cables, rated at 115,000 volts, carry the power.

GREAT SALMON RUN REPORTED

Queets, Wash., Oct. 14.—Sahalee Papa—Heavenly Father—is good to His Quinalt Indian children.

There is peace and plenty and to spare in the cabins along the Queets and Clearwater Rivers, and far up Snoqualmie and Tahquamen Creeks. The salmon are running, and it's the largest run of silvers and blacks in the memory of the tribe.

"Ah-lah!"—a pleasant surprise—say the tribesmen, eyeing bulging nets into the baskets. Even chest-wool—the black bear—the gorger—must cry enough as he dips voracious paws into the hurrying horde and flips fat salmon out for a creek bank feast.

Alah, a pleasant surprise, but passing strange, too, for the Queets and all other Washington coastal streams are still at the low water stage and even a foolish woman knows the salmon never run until the fall rains swell the streams.

Rise, rise, too, the streams are low, but elsewhere the salmon are staying out on the great spit, waiting for high water before swimming up the freshwater creeks to the spawning grounds. Only the Queets and its tributaries are filled with fish.

"Neiska mahse mika!"—the white men of the State Fisheries Department are perplexed at the heavy run of salmon in the shallow Queets. The

Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 14.—Wladimir Levandowsky, a lieutenant-general in the army of Czar Nicholas II, predicted today that it would take Italy "more than 100 years" to subjugate Ethiopia.

Now a landscape architect with the national capital park and planning commission, Levandowsky, sixty-three, was a general of a Russian army which operated through the Caucasus and Asia Minor during the World War.

The veteran said in an interview that he fought against Wehr Pasha, a Turk who is now in Haile Selassie's high command, and pronounced him "a most capable" general.

"It took the French seventy-five years to subjugate Algeria; it took us (the Russians) 100 years to conquer the Caucasus, and Spain never did get the part of Morocco it wanted to colonize," Levandowsky said, explaining difficulties confronting the Italians.

"It will take generations," predicted the general, alluding to Ethiopia's mountains and deserts as obstacles in the path of the invaders. "Airplanes and gas will do much, but destroying cities does not conquer a country."

To subdue Ethiopia completely, he said, the Italians would have to rely on infantry advances and subsequent actual occupation of areas.

"The Ethiopians will never surrender," he forecast, saying they have a spirit of independence not to be discounted.

Central European Bankers States Views on Plan Against Italy

Associated Press
Basel, Switzerland, Oct. 14.—Heads of central European banks, here for the monthly meeting of the Bank of International Settlements board, today concurred in the view that the League of Nations proposed financial sanctions against Italy are "more theoretical than practical."

The bankers said prohibition of loans to Italy is "of no importance for the moment" since the League's government says it does not need them.

THREE SLAIN; MAN IS HELD

Two Women and Man Shot on Highway in Utah

Associated Press
Salt Lake City, Oct. 14.—Police questioned one man and remained vigilant today as they pressed for a solution of a gunman's brief reign of terror that resulted in quick death to three persons and the wounding of two others.

Those killed were Mrs. Blanche Nelson, about thirty-five, of Woodcross, seven miles north of Salt Lake City; John L. East, forty-two, a farmer of East Bountiful, and his wife, Alice, thirty-eight.

Mrs. Nelson was slain yesterday evening by a man who dragged her from his automobile near the East farm, and who then slew the Easts because they apparently had been unwilling witnesses to the fatal shooting of the woman.

The killer sped away in his car and while passing through Bountiful, ten miles north of here, fired from his machine, one bullet striking George Reich, twenty-three, of Salt Lake City, in the head and critically wounding him.

Continuing his mad dash along the state highway, the slayer shot down Keith Seelie of Farmington as he walked along a sidewalk. The death car then vanished.

Roads blocked
Sheriff Joseph Holbrook and Salt Lake City police blocked all highways in the northern part of the state and Officer Sherman Falkenrath arrested a man driving a green sedan similar to one several witnesses had seen in the vicinity of the East farm. The man said he was Leo Rutledge, thirty-one-year-old butcher, and came here last May from San Diego, Cal.

Chief of Police Payne said Rutledge denied knowledge of the crimes, but the man was questioned far into the night and was held pending investigation.

WRECKED CAR TELLS OF ROOSEVELT'S NARROW ESCAPE

John, nineteen, and James Roosevelt, twenty-eight, sons of President Roosevelt, riding in the roadster pictured above had a narrow escape from death and suffered on ly night injuries when the so apparent damage was inflicted. The car was crushed against the post of a safety gate at a railroad crossing in Boston when John's quick-witted driving averted a broadside collision with the speeding train. He had crashed through the gate in a mad drive to catch a New York-bound plane.

Quinalts are perplexed, too, but it is not for them to question the Sahalee Papa's will. Nesiko Papa sends unexpected manna after four lean years.

William Penn. Queets, said the catch is "A gift from somewhere, and doubly welcome because of the small catches and the hunger of the past four years. He said the catch already exceeds all the salmon caught last year.

The white men, the experts, say perhaps there has been some rains up in the Olympic Mountains and the salmon sense the coming of the floods. Perhaps they theorize the salmon may have been waiting for a freshet, and when it failed to come, they were forced upstream out of the ocean to deposit their eggs and die.

He seized a revolver and set out to capture the would-be burglars. The fled on seeing him. He gave chase and fired one shot which brought one youth to a halt. The other continued to run and escaped. Police were called and the captured youth was turned over to them. He was taken to the Detention Home to await trial in Juvenile Court.

THE END OF THE CAMPAIGN

THE CAMPAIGN NOW AT AN END HAS broken all records for federal general elections. The number of candidates, 894, exceeds the highest total up to this time, which was 644; the difference being greater than the membership of the House of Commons. Naturally there have been more public meetings, but this does not mean that the cost of the election will be a record-breaker. Campaign funds have not been as plentiful as in many other contests and there are, therefore, more voluntary workers.

Probably the cost of the election of 1911, when reciprocity with the United States was the issue, reached the high-water mark. The Conservative opposition not only had the support of powerful high protectionist interests in Canada, but also was heavily financed by big contributions from the protectionists of the United States who, failing to defeat the treaty in Congress, did their utmost to secure its defeat in Canada.

In the present election, too, there are more parties and groups than there ever have been before. There are four major parties—Liberal, Conservative, Reconstruction and C.C.F., and four groups, Labor, Communist, Social Credit and Independent. In some constituencies there are six candidates. Certainly, never has there been such a confusion of tongues, never such an expenditure of wind and newspaper space. The radio has been called into use on a large scale, so that the electors have had the campaign brought into their homes. No longer is there any escape anywhere from the political advocate, not even by hiding under the bed.

The campaign has broken the record for peace-time in recent years, also, in the sense that the government whose fate will be decided to-day has clung to office longer beyond the expiration of the constitutional party term than any of its predecessors at Ottawa. This, of course, does not include the Borden government whose term was extended by special legislation during the war. The period of continuous office of one administration, which still holds the record, however, was the term during which Sir John A. Macdonald led the first government after Confederation and which extended from 1867 until 1873. The Liberal administration of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie lasted from 1873 to 1878. In every case, however, in which a federal government has gone to the end of its constitutional period, it has been defeated. Usually governments have gone to the country in the fourth year.

The outstanding general issues of the present campaign have been unemployment and trade, while, of course, every constituency has its peculiar domestic problems. The Conservative party has had its first split since 1896, when there was an exodus of ministers from the ministry of Sir Mackenzie Bowell. The recalcitrant this time is Hon. H. H. Stevens, who remained with the Conservative Party until after the House prorogued in the hope of succeeding Mr. Bennett in the leadership, and who did not initiate his Reconstruction Party until after the party caucus was assured by the Prime Minister that he intended to carry on. This irruption injected a novel feature into the campaign in the form of numerous verbal duels between Mr. Bennett and his erstwhile colleague.

WHY NOT BE FRIENDS

GERMANY'S "FOREIGN MINISTER OF Diplomatic Correspondence" seems to be letting his head run away with his judgment. A few days ago he ran riot and alleged that Soviet Russia was at the back of the troubles with the peasants of Lithuania, "while talking peace" scheming at Geneva, there was about an attempt to find ground for the so-called "red" army of Russia in Europe.

A dispatch from Berlin a week ago says that "it is not surprising that neighboring states are looking to their interests and security. It has been reported that the expected treaty between Soviet Russia and Roumania" we are quoting The Manchester Guardian—"will provide in certain eventualities for the passage through Roumania of Soviet troops. At present Roumanian territory constitutes a barrier to any dispatch of Russian troops into Czechoslovakia, with whom, as with France, Moscow has a treaty providing for mutual assistance in case of attack by another power."

Then there is a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, which reads as follows: "A 'hunting' expedition in East Prussia, to which General Goering, the Reich Master Forester, invited the Polish Ambassador in Berlin, Josef Lipski, and three other prominent Poles, ended to-day. At the conclusion of the hunt, which was mainly confined to the forest of Mamonien, a dozen miles from the border of the Memel country, General Goering's Polish guests left for Berlin, with the exception of M. Lipski, who has gone to the Carpathians for further hunting."

Some time the peoples of continental Europe will take council with themselves and agree that it is no use glaring at one another over the frontier fences, but that it is much better to tear down the black and white, the red and white "fence-posts" and say to one another—let us be friends.

STILL THE BEST SELLER

IT HAS BEEN SAID THAT WHENEVER publishers sit down to make up lists of all-time "best sellers," they never have the least trouble in figuring out what book should go in the first place. That spot invariably is reserved for the Bible, which for generation after generation continues to outsell all other books.

What makes this worthy of remark at the present moment is the fact that this year marks the 400th anniversary of the publication of the first English translation of the Bible. Myles Coverdale, an Englishman, brought out a complete text of the Bible in 1535—the first full English text to be printed, although Wycliff had circulated a translation in manuscript form a century and a half earlier, and Tyndale had printed the New Testament in 1525.

A nation-wide committee is pushing plans for suitable commemoration of the anniversary. Certainly the occasion is one of the most noteworthy in all the history of the English-speaking peoples.

ETHIOPIA AND GENEVA

REPORTS FROM THE HEADQUARTERS of the opposing armies in Ethiopia are running true to form. From the Italians come announcements of victories which, of course, are being capitalized by Mussolini in Italy where, no matter what happens, there will be no admission of reverses. From Addis Ababa come reports of similar successes, such, for instance, as that of the recapture of Aduwa, which was untrue.

British and French military authorities regard the progress of the Italian army as being away below expectation. Both point out that there has been no major conflict, that what has occurred so far is an operation, preliminary to a battle on a really large scale. Bearing in mind that Ethiopia is as big as British Columbia and even more mountainous, it is apparent that the sternest test of the invasion is yet to come.

Meanwhile, the League of Nations at Geneva is proceeding with the preparation of sanctions against Italy. The first, the raising of the munitions embargo against Ethiopia already has gone into effect. The next step is expected to be the prohibition of all loans and credits of member states to Italy. How far the other sanctions that have been proposed will be applied remains to be seen, but it is doubtful if they will be as stringent as some of the delegates recommend. A press report says the British and French governments have agreed to proceed more lightly and make the pressure heavier if this is ineffective. The financial embargo, however, will hurt Italy in a very serious spot.

GEORGE ROBEY AT SIXTY-SIX

TWO WEEKS AGO GEORGE ROBEY, celebrated British comedian, celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday and his fortieth year on the stage. And he is still on the stage—giving a lot of his good earnings, as Marie Lloyd did, to those members of the profession who need it.

George Robey, in 1919, was created a Commander of the British Empire, because he had done a good job of cheering the young men who were in France and Flanders, who also were doing a good job as was their conception of what a good job meant to them was. But let it be remembered that George Robey, no longer a young man—and not in the best of health, either—drove a truck, a big one, in the battle zone when things were not going any too well for the Allies.

The man with the "eyebrows"—the Robey which Victorians will remember when he was here last, will recall that he had the sense of humor which was not tied too lightly to the dollar bill or the pound note as some of his critics seemed to think. He always was willing to help those who were in need. Robey's first literary effort was: "My Life Up to Now." It was published in 1908.

DAVID, OF WALES, AS SPEAKER

THERE WAS A TIME WHEN THE TALKS of the Prince of Wales were written for him, after discussion in his presence, by such a man as Sir Godfrey Thomas, who came out to Victoria several times with the heir to the British throne—who has been his private secretary for more than fifteen years, when they were submitted to the technical bodies and associations most intimately concerned with his oratory, to the government department whose private territory his spoken word intended to invade in public, so says a writer of Tit-Bits, one of the weeklies which made the name and fortunes of Newnes Limited.

"Much of that formality remains a necessity to-day for political and diplomatic reasons; but nowadays, on more occasions than not," we read further, "he drafts out his own speeches on his own typewriter, rehearsing the thoughts which are within him and which he now utters with a conviction that, in the pre-slump days, must surely have astonished even himself."

"No one knows," the writer concludes, "not even himself, when he is addressing a gathering, the moment when he will suddenly become passionate on a different note, condemnatory and intolerant on a different scale, and depart from the text to speak as his feelings prompt him."

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

"SMART" AND "CLEVER"
Words like "smart" and "clever" do
Often far more harm than good.
They are words of brilliant hue,
But they're oft misunderstood.
Many a young man, blithe of heart,
Has gone blindly to his fall
Just by thinking he is smart
Is a triumph over all.

Men by being clever try
Fate and folly to outwit.
They would slip the dangers by Strong men face by keeping fit.
They would play an easier part
Than the men who plod along.
Falsely thinking being smart
Better is than being strong.

These are kinder words by far:
"Patient," "diligent" and "true."
Fine though "smart" and "clever" are,
These will serve a lifetime through.
Brilliance has a dazzling style,
But its charms are for the few.
And along life's tedious mile
Diligence will see you through.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THROWING UP THE SPONGE
The Winnipeg Free Press

A point Mr. Dunning made with particular force was that the Bennett policy really involves throwing up the sponge, giving up hope of capturing trade, accepting present living standards as fixed and maintaining a large permanent army of unemployed. The Liberal party declines to take this despairing view of the country's prospects. It proposes, at any rate, to go after trade by the practical method of offering to exchange Canadian goods for others. And it is actually the only party in the field which presents that policy to the elector.

Loose Ends

You had better enjoy your importance to-night because you will be a number to-morrow—when the great question is answered—and we all sink once more into the silence.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

KING FOR A DAY

SOON AFTER this is printed, the ballot boxes, long in labor, will have and bring forth a Canadian Parliament. To-day, free citizens of democracy who have exercised your sacred rights of franchise, wrung from society in these seven hundred years. As you went to the polls to-day you must have felt a glow of pride in your heart, a thunder of manhood in your temples. You must have felt like a king as you (and several millions more) held the fate of the nation in the hollow of your hand. Yours to turn it to the right or the left with a stroke of the pencil. Yours to dash the proud statesman's hopes. Yours to change the destiny of more millions yet unborn.

What a strange and mysterious process is this that has been going on to-day. For five years you, a Canadian voter, have been nameless, unknown, lost among millions of your kind in a dim, wallowing, inarticulate mass. You were not even a person. You were a number in the Bureau of Statistics, a unit of population, an entry on the voters' list, an obscure atom, say, a mere electron swirling about, as electrons do, unknown and invisible.

To-day you emerged suddenly, like a butterfly out of its cocoon. You thrust your head out above the mass and became, of a sudden, a man and a voter. Yesterday you were a number. To-day you were a king with all the awful powers of sovereignty. Yes, king for a day. To-morrow, poor fellow, you will sink back once more into the heaving, inarticulate mass. You will be forgotten. The politicians who loved you and flattered you and even knew your name for a brief spell will know you no more. You will be a number again. Yes, but remember this comforting thought—four years from now, in the great cycle of nature, you will rise again into articulation. After all, it is only four years. In the course of a good long life a man may rise thus a dozen times and enjoy twelve separate days of freedom and manhood. I trust you enjoyed this one to the full.

STRANGE SPECTACLE

TO-NIGHT what a strange and moving spectacle is this Canada, waiting for the election returns to come in. It is only at a time like this, when the whole nation is swept suddenly together in a common question and a common anxiety that you realize what Canada is. How large, how empty, how strangely assorted.

They will be listening on the radio to-night down there in the little fishing villages of Nova Scotia. The neighbors will be crowded into the white stone farm house of a man named Le Duc, just outside Quebec, where we once bought maple sugar in the spring, wrapped in little horns of fresh birch bark.

In the little town where I was born, on the banks of the St. Lawrence, there will be a big crowd about the newspaper office reading the bulletins, and there will be frost in the air and the smell of scarlet maple trees, and there will be several old men who once saw Sir John A. when he spoke here long ago.

Out on the prairies I know a farm where the folks will gather from several miles around to listen to the radio—men, hard men, and women with rough hands, and there will be a tremendous supper and maybe a nip or two for the boys, and they will ask themselves one question—what do these election returns mean to our wheat?

SIDE GLANCES

OUR PEOPLE

IN OUR OWN province how strangely assorted are the electors who are tuning up their radio dials at this moment—your in this snug and quiet Victoria with no worry in the world but the menace of our boulevard dress: boisterous Vancouver, feeling its oats, conscious of its growth and size, milling about the bulletin boards in Victory Square where, but a few weeks ago, unemployed boys were sleeping on the grass; and then in the wilderness what a different people!

Out there on the vast, flat, windy plateau of the Chilcotin they will get the news as soon as you do, the cowboys invited in for the evening to the perior of the big ranch house, wearing their store clothes for the occasion and clean collars. Further west, at the end of the single telegraph line, an operator in a log cabin beside the rushing Kleena Klean will listen to the click of his instrument and close at his elbow there will be half a dozen trappers who have trapped ten or twenty miles through the scrub timber, impelled by this universal instinct.

They will hear the news to-night in Kelly's log-sided hotel on the single, crooked street of old Barkerville, which in the gold rush days used to elect a member of its own. Even Bill Robinson will hear it in his log house beside the Sumallo, though several tubes in his set have died, he can still hear sounds faintly with an ear, phone, and if Bill has been into town in this last month or so he will have picked up a parcel we sent him and he will have something useful for toasting the success of his party, whichever it is. And even if the other party wins, Bill and one or two kindred souls from out of the mountain defiles will drink to a lost cause just as heartily.

TO-MORROW

WHAT A SWEEP of country from coast to coast listening to-night as one man, united for a few hours in a single purpose! How to keep them united, how to make them feel a single purpose beyond to-morrow morning—that is the overshadowing problem, more vital than all the catchwords of political campaigning. To-night, for a little while, Canada is a unit, every man is a citizen with a sense of his responsibility, a feeling of destiny in him, and a great hope or a great dismay, depending on whether his party won or lost. To-night we are all silent and anxious, waiting for the great mystery to be resolved, waiting to find out what we really did to-day within the secret place of the polling booth.

To-morrow, alas, the mystery will be over. The answer, as this rolls off the press at 4 o'clock this afternoon, is in the hands of the scrutineers. Four hours now it will be worthless, property common to rich and poor from one end of the country to the other. To-morrow, after coming together for one day with a sudden excitement and glow, men will go back into their old ways, fall apart once more, different provinces squabbling, different interests clashing, one half of the nation having no notion how the other is living and not caring much either. And all of us will sink once more into the rut and the silence. To-morrow we shall be numbers again.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

OCTOBER 14, 1910

(From The Times Files)

The fact that Victoria is rapidly assuming the position of one of the leading cities of the coast and embarking upon a policy of undertaking large works of local improvement, particularly in regard to streets, has attracted the attention of the leading companies on the continent who make a specialty of pavement work.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 4.—Public business was suspended to-day at the Capitol while attaches of the various bureaus rushed to the roofs or windows of the government buildings to watch aviator Grahame-White in his airplane circle the Capitol dome.

London, Oct. 14.—A Lisbon dispatch to a news agency here says that Great Britain has recognized the republic of Portugal.

While on her way to LadySmith for bunker coal the little C.P.R. steamer Otter went ashore on Moresby Island last night. The night was very dark and heavy rain shut out all trace of the land until the steamer had grounded through contrary currents which set her off her course.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Highlanders came back at the Giants in to-day's game at the American League park in the post-season baseball series to defeat the latter 5 to 4.

London, Oct. 14.—The greatest hurricane of a decade is to-day sweeping along the English and Irish coasts strewn with wreckage and the bodies of ships' crews.

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words. Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them. Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed. These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

THE NORMANS

To the Editor:—Let me put in the following historic information to the British Isles Federation about those Normans that came into France a long time ago. They did not stay in France, but went to Germany or to the British Isles, or to those islands north of the British Isles, and some of them went to Ireland or back to Norway, or Sweden. So there are no more Normans in France to-day.

ORIENTAL QUESTION

To the Editor:—It is with a true feeling of disgust that I notice in your morning contemporary, letters written presumably by Christians and at the same time preaching hatred and discrimination.

I refer to the anti-Oriental "campaign" which has recently been going on full blast during the past few days in particular.

Directly hatred is preached no matter what form it may take, Christianity flies out of the window. They can not live side by side. What about anti-Orientalism?

EX-SUBSIDY

LAKE HILL MISSION

To the Editor:—May I request space in your paper to bring before the people of Greater Victoria a great opportunity to invest in a real live concern studied with golden possibilities—both for the investor and the community to serve and give leadership. This has necessitated new quarters through our present home being needed for other purposes. We need about $450 more to finish our new school before the winter rains. We appeal to you, the public, to give heed to our need. We have good workers who are putting their best into the venture. All construction is being carried out voluntarily. Any gift of such service, materials or donation thankfully received.

C.F.N. Co. 1883-1901

To the Editor:—The Maritime Committee of the B.C. Historical Association wishes to know the design and colors of the house flag of the old Canadian Pacific Navigation Company. It is known the design contained a diagonal cross, but the color of the cross and the ground cannot be recalled by any of the oldtimers I have consulted. I shall be glad to hear from anyone who has a colored picture of the flag, or a flag itself or a cap badge. The company was in active existence from January 6, 1883, till March 4, 1901, when the ships were taken over by the C.P.R. I have an old letter head of the company, but the only illustration is a cut of a Mississippi side-wheel steamboat of the old-fashioned kind. I expect the fashion of printing the house flag in colors on company letter headings did not begin until long after 1901.

YOUTH AND WAR

To the Editor:—Recently there have been a number of letters appearing in The Times regarding youth and the prospects of war, and there seems to be a developing tendency to create a youth movement in this matter. Such a movement might be dangerous, as both Mussolini and Hitler derived their main support in the early days of their careers from just such movements, which were later skillfully perverted.

While not an active member of the C.C.F., it seems to me that their ideas on war, fit rather closely with those expressed, and the cause of peace might be further advanced by active association with them than by setting up still another group. Their present rather extensive organization could thus be made use of any the youth would have the added advantage of capable advocates right on the floor of the House in Ottawa. The disadvantage of this is of course that party prejudice would prevent a number of otherwise active sympathizers from lending their support.

Personally, I feel there might still come a time when this country must go to war, but if such a time should come let the whole country and not the army alone share in the sacrifice. Let there be immediate conscription of both men and resources, and the war can then be fought on a cash and carry basis. It was claimed during the last war that we were living in the future, but that was only with regard to entries in a book. One cannot eat food that is not produced, nor fire a shell that is not manufactured. If all resources were conscripted there would be no huge war debts left for the soldiers to pay off when they return, and I have a strong suspicion that there would also be no war.

If at some future time the army is to go to war and the capital of the country to go to work at exorbitant profits, I for one would much prefer to get a government contract and serve my King and country in the financial corps.

PAYS VISIT TO WORKSHOP

Lieut.-Governor Inspects Poppy Work at Red Cross Institution Here

Work of returned soldiers severely wounded in the war was inspected by Lieutenant-Governor Fordham Johnson on Saturday as he paid his annual visit to the Red Cross Workshop on Johnson Street.

The Lieutenant-Governor went over all departments of the workshop, expressing his appreciation of the work being done.

Major S. H. O'Neil, in charge of the workshop; J. Waterson, campaign manager for Remembrance Day; Commander Charles H. R. Slingsby, chairman of the Remembrance committee, and A. Palmer, vice-chairman, met the Lieutenant-Governor and Capt. W. Hobart Mosen, A.D.C., on their arrival and conducted them around.

Ten returned men were working in the poppy making section, manufacturing the imitation blooms and wreaths.

CURRIE BUTTON

The Currie button, which commemorates the part of Sir Arthur Currie in the war, aroused considerable interest. The button is being incorporated into each poppy this year. The method of dispatching the buttons, made here and packed in Victoria-made cartons, was explained.

The community cross was on display. The cross will be placed in a conspicuous place and when covered with poppies will be removed to the Returned Soldiers' Monument in the Parliament Buildings grounds. Before leaving the shop, His Honor requested the committee to reserve a big wreath for him.

COWICHAN CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Duncan, Oct. 14.—The annual meeting of the Cowichan Golf Club was held in the club house, Duncan, on Thursday evening with K. P. Duncan, vice-president in the chair. The resignation of C. R. Drayton, from the presidency was accepted with much regret. He has left the district to reside in Victoria.

The president's report showed the club is in an improved financial position.

The executive committee of the club endorsed the proposed "returned men's" competition, for a cup to be donated by Major Warner. This is open to all navy, army, and air force men, and will be run on the same lines as those held annually at other clubs. It is proposed to hold it on Sunday, November 17, with details to be worked out by Duncan, Rhodes and Suddaby, with a committee of two from the local branch of the Canadian Legion. The secretary of the golf club will receive any prize donated.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Colonel A. P. M. Slater; vice-president, Mr. K. P. Duncan; re-elected, captain, T. H. Kingscote; re-elected, secretary-treasurer, E. W. Carr-Hillson; re-elected, committee, Mrs. P. O. Alderley, H. A. Rhodes, N. E. Suddaby, A. E. P. Stubbs, G. Prevost.

CALIFORNIA ROARS WELCOME TO ROOSEVELT

Roars of welcome from 60,000 throats echoed through Los Angeles' vast Memorial Coliseum when the presidential procession, as shown above, entered the arena, shortly after a half million Californians had poured out of homes and offices to greet the vacationing chief executive. The demonstration of enthusiasm was believed the greatest accorded President Roosevelt since he entered the White House. After a wildly acclaimed speech in which Mr. Roosevelt told the great audience that economically "we have come through stormy seas into fair weather," he and Mrs. Roosevelt, nearly buried in bouquets of welcome, smiled at the cheering crowd.

STORIES IN STAMPS

War, which brought on a shortage of metal and the hoarding of coins, also caused the use of stamps as legal tender. It was so in the United States during the Civil War, and it was more so in Europe, particularly France, Germany and Austria, during the World War.

Since the stamps would last a very short time if handled too often, they were put into small metal containers and covered with mica, the backs of the containers carrying advertisements which repaid the cost. Above are the front and back of such a stamp coin, current in Denmark shortly after the war. In that country, this was done more as a commercial enterprise, by which the government could profit from such advertising, than from lack of coinage.

Tourists have been so numerous in Plymouth, England, that hotels have placed beds in bathrooms.

The BLUE DOOR

by Rachel Mack

"Yes, Miss Elaine. I'll be seventy-five. That's a kind of milestone in a body's life. It'll be good to have you here with me. I wouldn't want to spend a day like that alone."

Ruth stared through the darkness, and the sound of Penny's words became a wish fulfillment in her mind. She thought, "I ought to stay with her, poor thing! Of course I ought!" Then her natural honesty asserted itself and she faced her motives. "But I want to stay anyway. I'm happy here. There's comfortable shelter and good food—and there's John McNeill next door."

Suddenly her decision was made. She would stay on—in the vernacular—just as long as "the staying was good." She said, "Well, Penny, it's an occasion, isn't it? I'll save the 'happy birthday' till to-morrow and 'I'll make a day of it'."

"Yes, Miss Elaine," replied Penny, greatly pleased. "You're sweeter than you used to be. I like to have you with me. Couldn't you somehow make it a longer visit?"

"How long?" asked Ruth experimentally.

"Fourty letter said a week, Miss Elaine. Couldn't you double it?"

"Maybe," replied Ruth recklessly. Her eyes looked through the darkness toward the house next door. "Yes, Penny, we'll call it two weeks—"

"Her mind was saying, 'It's a risk!'" Her heart was replying, "But it's worth it!" She was in love with John McNeill.

Elaine Chambers was entertaining her best friend, Hortense Stokesbury. They were cutting English, since neither cared for Chaucer, and were making tea in Elaine's sitting room at Graycliffe.

The room was not orderly. Hortense, wishing to occupy the chaise longue, had to remove a pink satin corset, Hemingway's latest novel, and a bunch of letters held together with a rubber band.

Angering the letters with interest before laying them down, Hortense remarked, "From the Prince of Wales, I suppose. Or Robert Montgomery."

Elaine remained silent. "No," she answered, "Just from Teddy Van Harrington." Both she and Hortense knew that for their particular requirements the Van Harrington salon was the most desirable of men. The deb's delight. The deb's mother's ultimate goal. Teddy was just twenty-three and, thanks to a dozen high-powered tutors, now possessed a shepherd from Harvard and a reputation with brains in addition to his immense wealth. Within the last five years his father's trusty checkbook had rescued Teddy from three scheming actresses and a night club hostess. When Teddy announced himself engaged to Elaine—Chambers—Hortense's dominating, level-headed step-daughter who had money of her own, the elder Van Harrington swore with relief. He figured the marriage might last five or six years, with any luck at all, and in that time Teddy would grow up.

Elaine was considerably older at twenty-three. She had already decided to marry him, but because she did not love him in the least she subconsciously decided to make as many men miserable as possible. This consisted, in the first place, of the activities of her insidious college society and showered by her pliant beauty, made her a formidable fete. The year before she had been acclaimed the season's most successful debutante, and she was not one to let her reputation wither on the vine. She now had in tow the famous orchestra leader whose dance music was considered "divine" by her set; she still went about escorted by five or six attentive young males. Whenever she appeared in town from college the stock of the younger deb fell several points.

Perhaps the only thing Elaine

Chambers did which her heart really dictated was when she went down to Annapolis now and then and told a certain serious first-classman between dances that she loved him feverishly in spite of the fact that she was going to marry someone else. It thrilled her to hear this young naval officer threaten to end his life if she should do this. And yet it hurt her, too, for she was fond of him. Dennis Davis, older and less brilliant than most of his classmates, was not an especially good "catch." His family had lost their fortune. He had no "pull" in the navy. Elaine often wondered why she bothered with him at all. She only knew she would rather be kissed by him than by any other man on earth.

And that was the way things stood with Elaine Chambers at the moment she was handing her best friend and dearest enemy, Hortense Stokesbury a cup of tea that October afternoon at Graycliffe.

"What about your plans for the Ohio campaign?" asked Hortense casually.

"I've put things in motion," Elaine told her. "I wrote to the old caretaker—Penny, we call her—and told her I wanted to come on for a week's rest. I haven't written to the victim himself."

"Can't you ask him on here for a house party instead of going out there?" suggested Hortense.

"I've considered that," Elaine answered, "but I don't think I could swing it. This chap must be all of twenty-four years old now and is probably tied to a job. It's a letter that I wrote my mother last year, she mentioned that he still lives next door with his mother, so I guess he isn't married. His mother and mine were childhood friends."

"What's he like?" inquired Hortense, struggling with an anchovy paste and a cracker.

"I've remembered that I haven't seen him since I was a child," Elaine answered crossly, "and that I was too young to be very thick with him. He's apt to be attractive. The virile type. He always liked boys better than girls, I recall. I just cure him or let him."

"Oh," said Hortense, lighting a cigarette. She saw that Elaine wished to close the subject. "Isn't that a pimple on your nose, darling?"

"I hardly think so," Elaine replied, stealing a worried look in the mirror. "I've just been sneezing. Hortense, why don't you look at my figure? You're a good judge."

"The idea is this. I'm at college at Graycliffe now and am planning to run off during fall vacation for a visit to mother's old home—which used to be, and I hope still is, the house next door to you. I had such fun there when I was a kid that I've always wanted to go back. Just a whim, but I can't seem to get away from it. I suppose it will be a disappointing visit since we can never recapture the old childhood spirit, but at least I'll be going to attempt it. It would help a lot to find one familiar face there besides Penny's. In short, when I arrive will you come through the althea hedge to greet me in the old garden? I'd adore seeing you again and talking over old times. You'll find me aged though not decrepit."

"Otherwise the same Elaine Chambers,"

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

DON'T BE TOO HASTY ABOUT ABANDONING BREAST MILK.

The predicament of the young mother who is eager to nurse her baby, but worried about its slow gain, is easy to understand. Her first thought is to abandon nursing in favor of a milk formula whose contents she can measure. This is one answer but not the only one.

It were better to make every effort to improve the breast supply by regular, complete emptying of the breast at each nursing, meanwhile furnishing the baby with additional nourishment. Then baby would not lose his opportunity to benefit by breast feedings through too hasty a weaning.

It would be better to put my baby on cow's milk altogether," writes Mrs. W. L. A. "She is three months old and the last few weeks has gained from one to three ounces weekly."

"What is the average gain per week?" She weighs nearly eleven pounds now and weighed seven and one-half when born. My milk tests low in cream and so I have been giving her two cow's milk feedings the last four days, in order to satisfy her. I have been diluting the milk a little over half with water and adding some sweetening. Should I give her orange juice and cod liver oil? What makes her head sweat so?"

HASTENS WEANING PROCESS

The moment you substitute a bottle for breast feeding you have begun the weaning process and complete weaning is inevitable. If you would nurse the baby on both breasts at every regular nursing period and then immediately afterwards offer a properly prepared formula, the baby would be satisfied and the gain adequate.

Four ounces is the smallest adequate gain per week. The average well-fed baby gains from five to seven. With your baby's excellent birth weight the probable three months old weight would be around twelve and one-half pounds. For only a self-addressed stamped envelope you may have the "Feeding Form" which offers instructions about the feeding of cod liver oil and orange juice, as well as vegetables, egg yolk and so on. You may have also the leaflet on "Complementary Feeding," which will enable you to figure your formula more accurately.

HEAD SWEATING

The head sweating might be an early symptom of rickets (due to poor nourishment and lack of vitamin D medication)—or you may be overdressing the baby. Many babies perspire freely at nursing time, or after a nap. I'd make every effort to prove the diet and be careful not to overdress the baby with woolen garments.

To-morrow: "Figure Formula For Twenty-four Hour Day."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1935

Adverse planetary influences rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. It is a day in which there may be a sense of restlessness and a good time for careful investigation and planning.

Adverse influences may affect the business and industrial conditions. While there may be more sympathy for the workers, they may suffer great misfortunes through strikes.

Delay is suggested for those desiring employment. Appointments of many sorts are forecast before December for those who are in a hurry. Business expansion is indicated for many cities.

Quarrels and dissensions may affect persons in domestic life. Many will be wide-spread and will be the cause of many troubles among men as well as women. Women's clubs will be scenes of much indignation and secret efforts to influence members may be effective in many cases.

Girls should cultivate generous aims and should avoid the terms of jealousy. The wife will tell little of their best hopes and ambitions.

Persons whose birthdate is 1 have the augury of a year of difficulties that may lead to unhappiness and poverty. Men and women should be exceedingly decorous, because scandals are pressed.

Children born on this day probably will be versatile and brilliant. Subjects of this sign may attain some of their own efforts and unflagging ambitions.

Samuel G. Peckham, writer and critic, was born on this day, 1869. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Martin Westcott, physician, 1776, and William Pearce, bishop, 1862.

Woman Store President Studies Cash Customers

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

Memories of the heavy heart that one sensitive woman often carried away from a shop because of a rude, overbearing salesperson have been the chief influence in shaping policies of a great metropolitan retail store during the year just past.

The memories are those of Hortense Odium, only U.S. woman president of such an organization. She herself was the sensitive shopper. When she became the head of Bonwit Teller's Inc. one year ago, she had never held a job nor earned a penny. She was as she said "just an average wife and mother."

But in twelve months her business has been so successful that important retail men now pause to marvel and take pointers. She has made relatively few changes in personnel. Yet she has transformed the entire spirit of the place, brought in many extra dollars of revenue and thousands of new customers, some of whom regularly exchange friendly letters with her.

MEN DO NOT UNDERSTAND WOMEN

"It is the most exciting thing in the world, and as I told my husband the other night, I can't help feeling sometimes that I am in a dream," Mrs. Odium said, her blue-green eyes sparkling, her vivid face alight. There was so much to do that morning that she was taking her coffee at her big desk which unlike the uncannily-cleared desks of most executives had papers and memoranda piled high.

"You know," she went on, chuckling, "I always felt and said that a woman's place was in the home and I am not sure I have changed my mind. I suppose it depends mainly on circumstances. But one thing I know—men do not understand women and never will. So perhaps being president of the store is just an extension of woman's place."

"Anyway, what I have done has been done simply by putting myself into the customer's place. For two years I had been observing the workings of the store at the request of my husband whose company had acquired an interest in it" (her husband is Floyd Odium, multi-millionaire who built a fortune from nothing in seventeen years).

TALKS WITH IRATE CUSTOMERS

"I thought I knew what to do, but of course, thinking and doing are two different things." One of the first rules Mrs. Odium made was that all dissatisfied customers were to be referred straight to her. It was almost unheard of—that a president who is supposed to be a remote god sitting way off somewhere should see just any person who wanted to make a fuss!

But Mrs. Odium calmly persisted. She knew how one woman's bad experience with a store could ruin that store forever in a community. As a home woman she had been to bridge parties and teas where such experiences were passed on, and sometimes embroidered in the passing.

So nervous women wept on her shoulder, told her their life stories and left, placated and her friends for life. Now there are almost no dissatisfied customers to see, but Mrs. Odium's door is still wide open.

Any employee with a problem can discuss it with her and most of them do. She meets with the entire staff for heart-to-heart talks. Each department has its own staff meetings and frank get-togethers. When new merchandise comes in, the buyer explains it to the salespeople and they ask questions until they know what it is all about. There is a suggestion box in the store. Anybody may place there a criticism or plan for improvement.

POLITENESS MORE THAN POLICY

"I even told the staff how I used to feel when a saleswoman had highballed me," Mrs. Odium declared. "How I used to go to bed at night miserable just because some unknown in a shop had been unkind. I tried to make them see that a woman with a shawl over her head is just as much our important guest as one in a sables."

"The truth is," she added shrewdly, "the woman with the shawl will sometimes be able to buy and sell the one with sables but that is not the point. We had an interesting sample not long ago about how little you can judge by dress. It was a rainy day and a woman in a nondescript rain hat and coat was waiting for a friend. A sweet little salesgirl, just to pass the time pleasantly for the woman, showed her costume jewelry and she bought $750 worth before she left!"

CASH CUSTOMERS

People write in to tell Mrs. Odium how polite and efficient a certain saleswoman has been and Mrs. Odium proudly posts the letter on the bulletin board or reads it in sales meetings.

She has had thousands of letters since she started the custom of sending a courtesy card signed by herself to every cash customer. The card was the result of suddenly thinking one day that it was unfair for people with charge accounts to get more attention than those who pay at once.

YOUR CHILDREN

©1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

One cannot speak of "the public school system" in the singular. In the forty-eight states there are forty-eight systems, generally speaking, and each unit divides and subdivides according to the funds and facilities of the various cities, towns, boroughs, and townships within state borders.

As a rule, methods in the larger cities bear a close resemblance to each other; first, because they were founded upon the same educational principles; secondly, because each is agile in picking up innovations successfully tried and proved by another city. Smaller communities eventually follow suit as they can.

Thus it happens that some of the leading cities have completely revamped their methods of promoting or "placing" a child, while across the state line—or even the county line—schools are still using the straight formula of report cards and percent to the exclusion of all else.

HOW NEW SYSTEM JUDGES CHILD

One of the newest systems used in placing the child, or promoting him, considers "ability" (measured by marks); "aptitude," which is just what it says; and the "psychological age" of the child, sometimes called mental age.

"quick" child is given his chance to skip. The slower child goes on with his class and is given the opportunity to make up the lagging subject at a special time and place. In cases of the mental deviate or the very slow child, the pupil is put into a selective school where he may learn handicraft. If old enough for junior high, he is often set on the road to a vocation. The success of the latter schools has been astonishing.

This does not mean that all pupils who choose trade or vocational work are slow pupils. Quite the contrary: often they are the smartest of scholars and are merely exercising elective rights. But reclamation work, as we all know, accents manual effort in conjunction with certain mental exercises.

The following method of placing was tried out for a while in some cities. Promotion depended on the decisions of a committee composed of teacher, principal, psychologist and parent. Approximately nine-tenths of the children would be promoted without comment. The remainder were given special attention by the committee and their best interests considered.

The child put ahead, who cannot master the grade work is unhappy and confused. The child kept back is more unhappy still. The demoted child gives up entirely. These are the facts that revolutionized promotion methods.

Whether or not we approve of psychology, its power to test and measure mental calibre, remove mental hazards in the child and recommend happier environment cannot fail to impress us. For the first time a real place is found for the child mentally unfitted for the grade his age designates.

eventually vote on the worth of some such plan. Be that as it may, most schools to date have recognized the wisdom of averaging marks with aptitude, and of special classes for help wherever possible. The days of six-foot Harry in grade four are over. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

Norman Porter Is President

Succeeds Gordon Woodridge As Head of B.C. Branch of Amateur Union

Efforts of the British Columbia Basketball Association to secure the intermingling of professional and amateur athletes in their games will now have to be centred on their parent body, the Canadian Basketball Association. This was the decision reached at the annual meeting of the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada held at the Dominion Hotel on Saturday, with President Gordon Woodridge in the chair.

During the discussion it was pointed out that such a move would disqualify any B.C. team from taking part in the Olympic Games next year. Walter Hardwick, treasurer of the B.C.A.B.A., declared his association realized that feature and was willing to take a chance.

A long discussion resulted on another resolution presented by the basketballers, calling for lower registration fees for junior basketballers. A blanket resolution to govern all affiliated sports was passed, declaring that all athletes under eighteen years of age do not need an amateur card unless they perform in senior company or the national association of that sport requires them to possess a card.

An attempt will be made to permit inter-team games with clubs from the United States, without having to go to a great deal of trouble, as is now the case.

The B.C. branch will seek to secure a reduction in the affiliation fee with the Canadian body.

A standing vote of condolence was passed to the memory of the late Percy Watson.

NEW OFFICERS
Norman Porter, Vancouver, was elected president to replace Gordon Woodridge. Porter was vice-president last year. John Muter

MERALOMAS WIN AGAIN

Whip North Shore 19 to 11 to Maintain Unbeaten Record in Grid Loop

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Meralomas uncovered a potent overhead combination in Joe Ross and Tom Ferris at Athletic Park Saturday to smash out a 19 to 11 victory over North Shore Lions and maintain their unbeaten and untied record in the Big Three football race.

Ross-to-Ferris passes gave the champions two touchdowns in the last half after the score had been tied, 6 to 6, at the interval.

Lions took the defensive from the outset due to Ross's long kicks with the wind. Meralomas blocked Jim Campbell's kick on the North Shore twenty-five-yard line and on the ensuing play Jack Riley snake-hipped alone through the entire team to score the first touchdown.

Most of the play ranged in centre field in the second quarter until Elmer Boyes, North Shore star, started whipping passes to big Howard Downey, who scored on a long pass to the corner of the field. Charlie Bullock converted. Ross kicked to the deadline to tie the score before the half ended.

Jackie May was rouged by Ferris on Ross' long kick to start the third session. A Ross-to-Ferris pass added to the Meraloma score and Ross converted.

The Boyes-Downey combination went to work again and Lions hung up another major score.

As the final quarter opened, Riley returned Bullock's kick to the deadline for a single point. Ross and Ferris finished the scoring with two pretty forward passes for a touchdown. Ross missed his conversion attempt.

Scoring 98 out of a possible 100, Captain W. Brown and A. S. K. Gwilt took top honors in the Rainbow Sea Cadets Rifle Club's weekly rifle shoot held Saturday. Cadets A. Moore and P. Marchant tied for second place, but the shoot-off resulted in Moore being the victor.

Other members of the club shot off for a special prize donated by Captain Brown and J. Drysdale was declared the winner with a score of 24 out of 25.

Savage Returns Hockey Contract
Calgary, Oct. 14.—Gordon "Tony" Savage, defence player for Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, said here yesterday he would rather quit the game than accept the contract offered him for the 1935-36 campaign.

"The contract the Canadiens sent me calls for too great a cut in salary and I have returned it stating my terms," Savage stated. "If they are not met I will remain in Red Deer for the winter."

Strong Entry For First Swimming League Gala Wednesday

THE SPORTS MIRROR

VICTORY BY ORILLA TERRIERS over Richmond Farmers in three straight games in the Canadian box lacrosse final, saw the boys go for another spill on their ears. After the Terriers, eastern Canada Champions, had taken Richmond for a ride in the first two engagements, the Terriers who are always coming out with the remarks that certain games are fixed, winked in what they considered a knowing manner and loudly declared Richmond were a cinch to win the next game and prolong the play-off. We hear the boys of the Terriers went so far as to even bet money. How they were taken for a ride.

These same chaps are the ones that are always shouting about horse races, hockey games and other athletic engagements being arranged to finish certain ways. How foolish they are. They fail to realize just how impossible it would be to fix any game in which a good number of people participate. In the first place it would take thousands of dollars and in the second the so-called fixers would be open to blackmail for the rest of their lives.

Writing in his column in the Edmonton Journal, George Mackintosh, has the following interesting comment to make on the Northwestern Hockey League prospects for the coming season, as far as the Calgary and Edmonton clubs are concerned:

"Last season the Northwestern loop, with Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton represented, was anything but a success from the standpoint of the two Alberta clubs. The Calgary entry, headed by Sam Timmins and Gordon McFarlane folded up very completely before the end of the playing schedule, while the Edmonton club finished considerably in the red. So far as Calgary is concerned, conditions have changed a lot. With the installation of an artificial plant in the Victoria Park arena, there will be no more ice worries, and chances are that if the city has a pro team the attendance would be considerably improved. Uncertainty of ice conditions always have been a big drawback in the south in the past, but with that difficulty overcome, evidently some hardy Californian is prepared to take another whirl in the pro loop. There wouldn't have been an application for a franchise unless there was a backer ready to stand behind it with some real money."

"Patronage for pro hockey here last season was hardly up to the average, mostly because a weak Eskimo team started badly and never looked like getting anywhere until it was too late in the season."

"There is little doubt that attendance figures here could be improved a lot over those of a year ago, but whether the improvement would be big enough to make another plunge into the Northwestern league a successful venture is open to argument. Trekking back and forth to the coast is an expensive business, and most folks on this side of the mountains believe that the coast clubs should form a league of their own. There isn't any doubt that the teams, Calgary and Edmonton should be associated with the Regina and Saskatoon, and if that loop cannot be reorganized now it might be a part of wisdom to wait until '36 could."

Presentation of automobiles and gifts to athletes often brings smiles to those "in the know." It is known of an outstanding hockeyist who had his picture taken in front of his own car, and the builders of the sedan were, for a consideration, permitted to advertise that they had given the car to the player in question.

Twenty-three years ago New York admires presented an automobile to the late Christy Mathewson, with the guarantee that it would travel forty miles an hour. At that time Rube Marquard, the erratic lefthander, had just won nineteen games in succession, and he resented the fact that he had been overlooked. So in some mysterious way he arranged a few weeks later that "friends of the Rube" were going to give him an even cooler car. The ceremony was repeated, and while the band played Marquard was in his glory. But came retribution. About a month later a stranger appeared in the Giants' dressing-room, and cornered Marquard. "Are you Mr. Marquard?" he said, and being assured that he was talking to the "Rube," he set down this ultimatum: "Well, on account of you having failed to pay more than the first installment on that car we'll have to take it back."

City's Aces To Participate In Event At Garden

Crack Y.M.C.A. Squad Will Be Hard Pressed to Keep Unbeaten Record

FIRST EVENT AT 8 O'CLOCK

Y.M.C.A. swimmers, hitherto unbeaten in galas of the Vancouver Island Swimming League, will face possibly the biggest test in the history of their participation in loop fixtures on Wednesday evening as they stack up against Pacific and Victoria amateur clubs in the opening water meet of the winter season at the Crystal Garden. The first event is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Members of the V.A.S.C. and Pacific Clubs certain to compete pressed hard going for the Flying Y squad. The association performers will probably have to depend to a large extent on second and third places to boost their chances, although they rate fair bids in some sprints and in the men's relay.

FAVORITES
Those on the inside picked Bobby Moss, husky young V.A.S.C. performer, for the fifty yards freestyle junior boys' event, although he will face good opposition from Bill Noel and Gordie Lawrence of the Y.
In the junior girls' fifty yards freestyle, Monica Trump, if she qualifies, for the age restriction, should stage a merry battle with Helen Manning and Nae Saunders in an all V.A.S.C. showdown up to a good battle in the similar event for men.

In the 150 yards medley relay for women, the V.A.S.C. team possibly composed of Monica Trump, D. Dale Johnson and a third member, should give the Pacific Club plenty of opposition, while the Y.M.C.A. first team, composed of Don Davidson, smart backstroke performer, Harris Munroe and Yvonne Fuller, are favored to take the men's medley team event.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT
The women's 200 yards freestyle relay should be a three-cornered fight, with the Pacific Club emerging victors.

The Y will probably annex the men's 200 yards relay, with Ivor Fuller, Wes Clark, Jack Rawlins and Harris Munroe providing the power. Irrespective of the results, some keen races should be seen, with the juniors claiming almost as much interest as the seniors.

Y.M.C.A. ENTRIES
The Y.M.C.A. entries for the event follow:

50 yards freestyle, junior boys—Bill Noel, G. Lawrence and E. Blenkinsop.
50 yards freestyle, junior girls—O. French and M. Dewhurst.
100 yards freestyle, women—R. Davidson.
100 yards freestyle, men—Harris Munroe, Don Davidson and Gordie Lawrence.

Medley relay, women, 150 yards—Olive French, E. Bremner and Ruby Davidson.
Medley relay, men, 150 yards—Don Davidson, Harris Munroe and Ivor Fuller. Y.M.C.A. second team—Bob Smith, Len Sear and Jack Mutton.
Y.M.C.A. handicap, fifty yards—B. Smith, G. Rennie, Ruth Crowhurst, Phyllis Addison, Bob McVey, Stan Lawrence, Gordon Taylor, Madge Carter, Bob Doherty, E. Blenkinsop and N. Young.

200 yards relay, women—Helen Unsworth, O. French, M. Dewhurst and R. Davidson.
200 yards relay, men, first team—Ivor Fuller, Wes Clark, Jack Rawlins and Harris Munroe; second team, Don Davidson, Jack Mutton, Bill Noel and Bill Van Druten.

PACIFIC CLUB ENTRIES
The Pacific Club entries for the event follow:

50 yards freestyle, junior girls—A. Peden and Molly Wallis.
100 yards freestyle, women—E. Peden and L. Stokes.
100 yards freestyle, men—B. Honor and B. Mathewson.
Medley relay, women, 150 yards—M. Wallis, E. Peden and M. Doidge.
Medley relay, men, 150 yards—V. Little, E. Peden and H. Anderson.

Helen Stephens Is Easy Winner

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 14.—Elizabeth Zay, seventeen, the "mystery sprinter" of the Ozarks, was just another racer to-day to Helen Stephens. "The Missouri Flyer" ran Elizabeth into a one-sided defeat Saturday in two match-race dashes.
Miss Zay, Springfield, Mo., was beaten by ten yards in the fifty-yard dash and was left so far behind in the 100-yard dash that she quit after seventy-five yards. Miss Stephens, who has beaten Stella Walsh, covered fifty yards in 5.3 seconds and 100 in 10.9.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Strange as it seems, the anableps is a fish that has one pair of eyes for looking at things above the water. Yet, it has only two eyeballs.
Each eyeball is divided so that there is an upper and a lower pupil in each eye. The lower pupil is used to look downward for underwater enemies, while the upper is used to sight food morsels floating on the surface. Anableps is native to the American tropics.

Silver, pure and untarnished, has a lustrous white color. Light that is reflected back and forth between silver surfaces, however, takes on a yellow color. If silver is hammered into very thin pieces, the light shining through it assumes a bluish color. The vapor of silver is distinctly green, while the metal is a dull grey when reduced to a fine powder. If silver is permitted to tarnish it becomes brownish, although this color is really silver sulphide.

Galusha A. Grow, born in 1882, was first elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1930, serving as its youngest member. He served for several years, being elected speaker in 1931. He lost the election of 1932 and subsequent elections. He re-entered the House, however, forty-three years after his first election, when in 1933 he was appointed to finish the term of Representative Tully who died. He served four months and then retired.

To-morrow: Tomb for a Tooth.

LINDRUM and McCONACHY TO PLAY HERE THIS WEEK

The two renowned cue artists will play in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on Friday and Saturday, giving exhibitions both in the afternoon and the evenings. The exhibition is being sponsored by Bert and Charlie Irish, owners of the Metropolitan Parlors. Special seating accommodation will be arranged, and one of the best tables in the city will be set up for the exhibition.

Paul Runyan Wins $5,000 Open Golf

White Plains, N.Y. Pro Scores 283 For 72 Holes of Louisville Tournament; Harry Cooper Takes Second Position With 285

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14.—Blasting a sub-par 70 on the final eighteen, diminutive Paul Runyan, White Plains, N.Y., professional, overhauled the early leader, Alvin Krueger, Beloit, Wis., to win the $5,000 Louisville open golf tournament here yesterday. His seventy-two-hole total was 283, one under par.

Runyan, starting yesterday's play two strokes behind, tabbed a thirty-seven, two over par, on the out nine of the afternoon round. He settled down on the back stretch, however, to can four birdies for a thirty-three, three under regulation figures.

COOPER SECOND
Second place went to Harry Cooper, who turned in the best performance of the day with a 69 on the afternoon round. His total was 285. Vic Ghessi, Des Moines, shot round yesterday's 73 and 70 to wind up in third place with 287. Tied for fourth were Bill Kaiser, Louisville, Krueger, Frank

ST. SAVIORS TAKE MATCH

Defeat Vancouver Rangers 2 to 1 in Intercity League Football

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—St. Saviours won their first game of the Intercity Soccer League schedule here Saturday, defeating the Vancouver Rangers, 2 to 1.
Although the Saints were held to two goals they had the best of play through most of the match. Eric Camp, former Loco player, starred at right-half, and Oase Ross at left-half and Hugh Hunter, centre-half, completed a powerful intermediate line.
Bob McMurdo, St. Saviours centre-forward, started the scoring when he took a short pass from Bruce close to the goal mouth and kicked it into the net.
Gloag was called on to do some neat goal tending through the rest of the half in the Rangers' net. The Saints' wings were working well, but the inside forwards, Gardner and Bradbury, were rather off form, and the period ended with no more scoring.
Soon after play resumed Gardner took a corner kick from Moffatt and slipped the ball to Bradbury, who steered it into the net for the Saints' second counter.

RANGERS SCORE
Rangers began to battle in earnest and fifteen minutes before time Wilkinson crashed a rebound of Easley's foul kick into the corner of the net, giving Rabbit no chance to save.
The Rangers kept up the attack, and Rabbit, former St. Andrews goalie, was hard pressed, but with the help of a strong defence line, was able to keep the ball out of the net during the rest of the game.

The teams:
St. Saviours—Rabbit, Heath, Ingram, Camp, Hunter, Ross, Moffatt, Gardner, McMurdo, Bradbury and Platt.
Rangers—Gloag, Easley, Stirling, Lawley, Smith, Morley, Jack Johnson, Wilkinson, Larson, Keddie and Kerfoot. Sub: A. Waigh.

Auto Race Driver Killed at Detroit

Detroit, Oct. 14.—Charles Burdard, Kalamazoo race driver was killed and five others injured in accidents during a fifty-mile race at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Speedway yesterday. Burdard was killed when his car leaped an embankment.
The race was won by Red Campbell, with Fred Moebis finishing second.

Mainlander To Oppose Parker

Victoria Boxer Will Meet Currie-Smith, Vancouver, Here Wednesday

Bobby Parker, Canadian Scottish boxer, and Gordon Currie-Smith of Vancouver, leading fisticuff artists of the Pacific Northwest, will exchange blows in the main event of the Victoria Athletic Club's boxing and wrestling programme to be staged Wednesday evening in the Tillium gymnasium.
The opening bout will be at 8:30 o'clock.

The mainland boy-defeated Parker in their previous meeting, to win the lightweight title of British Columbia. Both boys will be out for knockouts and a thrilling bout is promised the fans. Matchmaker Tommy Drysdale is endeavoring to have the rounds advanced to six instead of the usual five.

Rex Carey, clever Scottish boxer, will also meet an opponent, yet to be selected. It is expected it will be Duke Helikini, Seattle, who made such a fine showing against his biggest and heavier opponent, Muzz Patrick, last week.
Reg Hopkins, rough and ready matman, who has taken on and defeated the best of the island's wrestlers, will receive an old test when he meets Scotty McKay, Vancouver. McKay has a fine record.

Beard Holstein, rugged Scots boxer, will square-off with Doug Smith, Fifth Regiment fighter, in the 145-pound class.
Al Duval, Eric Whitehead, Bill Smith, Al Garnot and other local mat and fisticuff stars will also perform on the card.

WOODSTOCK IS RACE CHOICE

London, Oct. 14.—Interest is reaching its height in the Cesarewitch Stakes to be run at Newmarket Oct. 16. Noel Guinness's Woodstock continues the favorite, quoted at 12 to 2 but there are at least six other entries for the two and one-quarter-mile event which are expected to finish well to the fore of the field of thirty-eight probable starters.

It is not often two owners present such a stout pair of horses as in this race. Sir Abe Bailey's colors will be carried by Shining Cloud and Doreen Jane while Lucky Patch and Near Relation will represent the stable of Alfred Butt. Lawson Cottrill, Sir Abe's trainer, is the most confident one of his pair will take the event while Alfred Butt is said to be backing his horse. Other popping favorites are Polly Stephens, and Solitaire, while most fancied of the outsiders are Hands Off, Court Equerry, Cornered and the French candidate Nightcap.

OTHER STARTERS
Trainer Thrale is confident if Bunkawa stays it will have a good chance while Lord Churchill believes his cellar boy, winning 2 to 1 at Somerset Park, Lytle and Ferguson made it 2 to 0 in the first half, but Ayr rallied later and McCall reduced the margin. Dundee and Kilmarnock fought a scoreless and even draw and the equal division of the points between Dunfermline and Hamilton Academicals was also a fair result. All the four goals in this game were netted in the second half. McGowan and Thomson counting for the Fifeshire outfit and Wilson and Reid for the Acedes.

MOTHERWELL IN FORM
Motherwell won a comfortable 3-0 to a victory over Albion Rovers. Brady scoring twice while Bruce put

Plays Leading Role in Club's Surprising Victory Over Sunderland in English Football; Wylie Drives Home Four Goals For Partick in Scottish Loop

London, Oct. 14.—Chesterfield, third division soccer club, to-day has the distinction of being the only unbeaten club in the English League. Until Saturday the honor had been shared with Huddersfield Town, leader of the first league, and Tranmere Rovers, northern section rivals.

Huddersfield's record was marred by Middlesbrough, who won at home 4 to 2, but the Town is still top-dog in the division as Sunderland and Derby County, its closest rivals, both had their colors lowered. Tranmere surrendered the northern section leadership to Lincoln City by losing 4 to 0 at Wrexham. Lincoln and Tranmere are now bracketed in first place, Chesterfield is fourth in the league.

In the game at Middlesbrough, Huddersfield started like winners, scoring after four minutes play through Williams. Yorston equalized before the interval. The home side dominated play in the second half, Coteman, Chadwick and Torston netting while Mountford reduced the margin by converting a penalty kick.

GROUND RECORD
A new ground record was set at Stamford Bridge, where Chelsea and Arsenal battled to a 1 to 1 draw. A crowd of 82,908 passed through the turnstiles. Bambrick tallied for the Pensioners and Crayston for the gunners in the second half.

Grimsby Town's 4 to 0 victory over Sunderland was as good as it was unexpected. Glover, the Fishermen's centre forward, notched three goals, Craven getting the fourth. Hooper of Sheffield Wednesday scored the only goal of the game with Derby County but it was enough to rob the County of league leadership.
Blackburn Rovers pulled off a great feat in winning 4 to 1 from Manchester City. Hamill netted twice for the winners and McOorgan and Pryde got one each while Toftland was responsible for the City's lone tally. Bolton Wanderers defeated Aston Villa 2 to 1 at Villa Park. Milson notched the goals for the visitors and Houghton counted for Aston Villa from a penalty.

SECOND DIVISION
The second division leaders, Leicester City, had an off day, losing 3 to 0 at Burnley. A goalless draw at Bury, Bury, Maltby and Graham tallied for the home team. Charlton Athletic deserved its 2 to 1 victory at Newcastle. They scored twice in six minutes through Welsh and Allen. The United rallied before half-time, Harris eventually getting the ball in the net from a goalmouth melee.

Reading consolidated its position at the top of the third division, southern section, by defeating Bristol Rovers 3 to 2 after a hard tussle. Harwood opened the scoring for the visitors when Whittaker, Reading's goalie, fumbled a shot. The Biscuitmen rallied fiercely but Ellis, in the Rovers' goal, played a magnificent game and it was not until a few minutes before the interval that Tait put the scores level. On changing over, Patterson put the home team ahead, but Watlington equalized for Bristol from a penalty. McGough's header gave Reading the victory.

Outplayed by Wrexham, Tranmere Rovers lost 4 to 0. Except for occasional snail, which yielded no advantage because of their forwards' wildness in front of goal, Tranmere were on the defensive for long periods. McCartney (2), Fryer and Richards were Wrexham's marksmen.

Glasgow, Oct. 14.—With Rangers and Celtic playing in the final for the Glasgow Cup, Scotland's League soccer programme Saturday lacked its usual interest. Aberdeen took full advantage of the opportunity to pull out in front in the premier division of the league, defeating Arbroath 1 to 0.

The Dons appeared to take things easy at Arbroath and Armstrong's goal that gave them victory was scored late in the game.
A goal by Connor enabled Aldridge to win their home game with Queen of The South. They had a slight edge on the play. St. Johnstone showed Ayr United into the league cellar by winning 2 to 1 at Somerset Park. Lytle and Ferguson made it 2 to 0 in the first half, but Ayr rallied later and McCall reduced the margin. Dundee and Kilmarnock fought a scoreless and even draw and the equal division of the points between Dunfermline and Hamilton Academicals was also a fair result. All the four goals in this game were netted in the second half. McGowan and Thomson counting for the Fifeshire outfit and Wilson and Reid for the Acedes.

MOTHERWELL IN FORM
Motherwell won a comfortable 3-0 to a victory over Albion Rovers. Brady scoring twice while Bruce put

Northwest Hockey League To Operate With Same Five Clubs

Vancouver Meets Seattle In First Game November 11

Calgary and Edmonton Teams Retain Franchises; California Outfits Out

Dr. Leitch Is Again President

Portland, Ore., Oct. 14.—The Northwest Ice Hockey League will operate again this winter with the same five clubs participating last season, it was announced at the conclusion of the annual meeting here yesterday.

A franchise was granted to Calgary parties represented by J. Ross Henderson of that city. No franchises were granted to California cities this year because of the difficulty of arranging a satisfactory schedule with but two California cities ready to operate, Dr. Gordon B. Leitch of Portland, who was re-elected president and secretary, announced.

The schedule opens with Vancouver meeting the defending champions, Seattle, on the Vancouver ice November 11. Vancouver will play at Seattle November 13 and at Portland November 14.

Calgary and Edmonton will be permitted to rearrange the dates of their home games with each other.

PLAYING NIGHTS
The majority of the games in Vancouver will be on Mondays. Seattle's home night has been changed to Wednesday, with a few Saturdays necessary to complete the schedule. Portland's home night will continue to be Thursday, with an occasional Sunday game. Calgary's games will be Wednesday and Friday nights in the main, and Edmonton's home games mostly Mondays and Saturdays.

Referees will be appointed later.

Hugh M. Caldwell, Seattle, was elected vice-president of the league.

Attendees at the meeting were Guy W. Patrick, Vancouver; Bobby Rowe and Dr. Leitch, Portland; and Hugh M. Caldwell and C. Norman Dickson, Seattle.

through his own goal. Against Hearts, form and the 4 to 3 score was a true reflection of the run of the play. Ogilvie, Stevenson, Bremner and Stewart were the first Park team's scorers. Walker getting two for Hearts. Willie Patrick Thistle, won the honor of being the highest scorer of the day. He netted four of his side's seven goals against Queen's Park. McKenna netted two and Campbell, Queen's Park back, contributed the seventh by putting past his own goalkeeper. The Amateurs were unable to reply. They were handicapped by the loss of Dodds, their centre forward, who pulled a leg muscle in the first half and took no further part in the game.

ANGLER CASTS FOR BIRDIES

Instead of casting for bass, C. A. Anderson, Portland, Ore., angler, is casting for birdies now. Anderson is a "golf caster," a devotee of the new sport in which fishermen, using a tournament plug and casting rod and reel, play around a regular golf course. The casters often have a "drive" of 300 feet, and can put their plug within a foot of the cup from a distance of 100 feet. Here Anderson, at right, is ready to tee off in competition with a regular golfer, Reuben Holm.

Esquimalt-Wests Soccer Winners

Defeat Victoria City and Saanich Thistles in Local First Division Matches; Tie For First Place

Saturday's first division soccer matches witnessed the defeat of Victoria City for the first time this season at the hands of Esquimalt 5 to 2, and the initial victory of the Victoria West squad at the expense of the Saanich Thistles 4 to 0. Both fixtures were played at the Athletic Park on a pitch made exceptionally greasy and slippery by the rain. About 300 were in attendance.

The league standing now finds the City and Esquimalt tied for first place, each with two wins and a defeat and the Thistles and Wests also deadlocked with one win and two defeats apiece.

Scoring three goals in the first half and adding two more in the final period Esquimalt had little trouble turning back the red-shirted City eleven in the first match. The Dockers went into the lead after ten minutes of play and were never headed.

SCORE ANOTHER
At the fourteen minute mark Esquimalt made it 2 to 0, McAllister booting the ball into an open net, after Rowe had fumbled Stewart's long cross and then failed to get the ball clear after recovering. The City forced two flag kicks but took no advantage of them. Rowe rushed out of his goal, after Holtum broke in the clear, and made three blocks before returning between the posts.

Robbins was right through, on a pass from Payne, only to drive the ball straight at Hood.

Two more corners were gained by the City but the Esquimalt back division cleared the crosses from Youson and George Payne. Esquimalt's third goal came seconds before half-time. Gibbons, City left back, misjudged a long drive from Stewart and Miller broke fast, slipped the ball to Worwick, and the left winger beat Rowe with a low drive.

CITY GET ONE
Four minutes after the start of the second half the City got home their first goal. Moore, right half, worked hard to get the ball near the Esquimalt goal and slipped it to Price, in front of the net, and the latter flicked it into the corner. Esquimalt substituted O'Connell for Cook at left back. At the eight minute mark the City brought the score to 3 to 3 on a smart goal by George Payne. The left winger gave Hood no chance with a low drive to the small side of the net, on a pass from Price. Shortly after Jack Payne shot and Hood threw himself across the goal to push the ball around the post.

Esquimalt's fourth goal came after twenty-one minutes play and was a gift. Gibbons in attempting to clear lifted the ball into the corner. Rowe was on the other side of the net and never had a chance. The scoring added five minutes later when Holtum took a pass from Edwards and picked the corner for his second counter of the match.

THE TEAMS FOLLOW:
Esquimalt—Hood, Watt, Cook, Edwards, Evans, McAllister, Holtum, Stewart, Miller, Holtum, Worwick and O'Connell.

Victoria City—Rowe, Hallett, Gibbons, Gibson, Pearce, Moore, Youson, Price, Robbins, J. Payne and G. Payne.

WESTS SUPERIOR
Playing a far better brand of football than their opponents, the Wests gained a shutout victory over the Thistles.

The Wests garnered three tallies in the first half and two in the final session. Play throughout the entire game was with the Wests, who kept the Saanich squad on their toes trying to frustrate their scoring attempts.

Noel Morgan, inside left, chalked up the Wests' first marker twenty-two minutes after the start of play, when he slipped the ball past Chalmers, Thistles net minder.

Keeping up the pressure the Wests got another tally five minutes later. McCall, inside right, picked the corner of the net as goalie Chalmers fumbled Brown's hot drive. Receiving a fine pass from Brown, Wests' outside left, in the last minute of this half McCall slipped the ball in the goal to secure his second marker of the match and to make the score stand 3 to 0 at the rest period.

PITZER AND NEX VICTORS

Defeat Saanich Rangers 7 to 1 in Saanich Football; Marigold and Indians Win

Pitzer and Nex soccer eleven, formerly the Burnside Club, yesterday afternoon snowed under the Saanich Rangers, 7 to 1. In a Saanich and District Football League fixture at Reynolds Road. Two other league games yesterday resulted in the Marigold squad garnering a 3 to 0 win over the Bluebirds at Hampton Road, and Victoria Indians defeating Admirals 1 to 0, at Bullen Park.

Pitzer and Nex coasted to an easy victory over Saanich Rangers, and chalked up three goals in the first half and four in the final session. The Rangers secured their lone tally in the initial canto. Those players garnering goals for the winners were C. Smith, inside left, three; A. Alexander, centre forward, two; Charlie Bell, inside right, and Ralph Acock Jr., outside right, one each. Jim Crowe, centre forward, pushed across the marker for the losers. Duggan refereed.

S. Skillet, Indians centre forward, scored the only goal for the Indians in its match against the Admirals. Teddy Hawkes handled the whistle.

Bell and Lambie fifteen minutes after play resumed, resulted in Lambie walking the ball past Chalmers into the net. Victoria West gained their final tally of the match, when Morgan scored from Lorandini's free kick, which was given for Leggett handling the ball.

T. M. Robb refereed.

Toronto Argonauts Win Four Straight

Continue Brilliant Performance in Big Four Canadian Football Race By Beating Hamilton Tigers 7 to 1; McGill, Ottawa and Sarnia Victors

By ELMER DULMAGE

Ted Reeve's astonishing defence of Queen's football tradition and the machine-like Toronto Argonauts of Lou Hayman had the east's gridiron blood-pressure a few points higher than usual today, although both face the heavy end of the schedule and not very much had been yet decided.

Because they packed an overabundance of fundamental, a defensive soundness that is rare in these days of the forward pass. Queens held a favored University of Toronto team to a 3 to 2 tie Saturday at Kingston.

Argos, altogether too well-balanced, turned back Hamilton Tigers, 7 to 1, before 15,000 at Toronto on the strength of two place-kicks by Tommy Burns. The win, fourth straight for Hayman's team, left the Scullers two games in front of Tigers and Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four race.

Ottawa's 12 to 9 win over the strike-riddled Montreal Wheelers, McGill's masterful 21 to 7 conquest of Western Mustangs, and Sarnia's decisive 21 to 6 win over Hamilton Cubs, were without a surprise element.

GREAT DEFENCE

Only 4,000 or so watched Toronto's colorful backfield, regarded as one of the strongest in the country, fail to smash down the Reeve defences at Kingston. More than once the grim tricolor defenders were smashed back on their heels, but they were never flattened.

In the second period the blue invaders reached Queen's two-yard line for a first down only to have the tricolor wall turn back the assault.

Queens successfully battled a team that seemed to have more variety of attack, superior manpower, more scoring ability. After Bob Tabster had punted the Blues into a 3 to 0 lead early in the second stanza, the tricolor gang got tough.

They connected little after that. Johnny Munro kicked a single before half-time and the Reeve team almost pulled in front in the Johnny Wing and Ed Barnabe tried place-kicks. Both failed, but Barnabe's kick went to the deadline for the tying single. Tom Riddell and Lou Ruschin played leading roles in McGill's victory at London as the Redmen consolidated their position at the top of the intercollegiate standings. A single point ahead of Toronto, Riddell scored two touchdowns and Ruschin kicked two field goals, and a single.

McGill had an edge throughout. Charlie Box ran twenty yards in the final period.

LOSE U.S. IMPORTS

Stripped of nearly all imported American talent by last week's player walkout, Montreal's Wheelers staged a gallant uprising against Ottawa. They led by 3 to 7 at the halfway mark, having thoroughly outplayed the Rough Riders, and only succumbed when Abe Ellowitz became unstop-pable on the Ottawa attack.

Ellowitz ran thirty-five yards with a loose ball for Ottawa's touchdown and accounted for the remaining points with his good left foot. After Ray Berry had galloped twenty-four yards to Montreal's thirty-yard line in the final period, Abe kicked a field goal for the winning points.

To make it two straight in the O.R.U. race, Sarnia produced a brilliant forward-pass offensive that demolished Hamilton's fighting Cubs. Ormond Beach, Gordie Paterson and McWatters scored touchdowns for the Imperials, all after pass play, and Cal Moore intercepted a Cub forward to run thirty yards for the fourth.

They connected little after that.

It was decided this was not properly chargeable to Victoria.

FRENCH DISCOUNT ITALIAN SCHEME
Associated Press
Paris, Oct. 14.—French officials said to-day there was little possibility of Mussolini setting up Raa Haile Selassie Gueba as a rival to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia until Italy took more territory.

The officials denied daily reports published abroad that Italy had sounded out Paris as to its attitude toward a coronation of Ras Gueba, which would be similar to that for the Emperor of Manchukuo, sponsored by Japan.

Violent criticism of Great Britain subsided in the French press.

CITY WELL UP IN MEDICINE

Dr. T. W. A. Gray Tells Gyros of Latest Developments in Science

Victoria is kept constantly in touch with the latest progress of medical science, Dr. T. W. A. Gray told members of the Gyro Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

It was sometimes claimed by persons unaware of the facts, said Dr. Gray, that Victoria, by its insular position, was behind the times in this direction. Actually there was a medical conference each week at which the latest reports from other communities were discussed and the post-mortems of the previous week were reviewed.

In addition there was a voluntary cancer board which made it its business to keep up with the latest knowledge connected with the fighting of the disease. "At the moment one of the greatest problems is to bring people early into contact with all the scientific knowledge available at this time," said Dr. Gray.

PERIODICAL EXAMINATIONS
He stressed the need for regular periodical health examinations, through which the chances of the development of chronic disease could be completely eliminated.

Dr. Gray traced the history of medicine in all its major phases from its real beginning in the fifth century B.C. It was Hippocrates who at that time removed the blame for sickness from the shoulders of the gods to those of men. He first made medicine a matter of common sense.

The next great figure came about the year 200 A.D., in the person of Galen, whose theories dominated the medical world for the next 1,500 years.

In the fifth century of this era, when Rome had been sacked by Alaric and the Goths, a spirit of discouragement took hold on the world. In the belief that the world was soon to come to an end, even the precautions of normal cleanliness were discarded.

Later, when nothing happened, people turned to the priests for help, bodily as well as spiritual comfort. Strange remedies from text-books, sovereign for snake bite and a host of other troubles, had sixty-six ingredients and was to be taken twice daily for ten years.

RENAISSANCE
In the fifteenth century, with the new knowledge brought to Europe after the fall of Constantinople and with the return of the Crusaders, medicine developed suddenly.

In 1543 dissection was started by a Belgian, giving the world its first accurate knowledge of human anatomy. Shortly afterwards Harvey discovered and demonstrated the principles of the circulation of the blood.

Two centuries ago John Hunter extended and demonstrated the principles of modern surgery, and a daring operation related to Jener his observations of the immunity to smallpox of persons who had had cow pox, leading to the introduction of vaccination.

Less than 100 years ago Louis, a southern Georgia doctor, applied to surgery the effects of ether noted by young bloods on "ether jags," and anaesthesia was started.

Pasteur, working on problems of disease in silkworms and wine, formulated the theory of attenuated organisms, bringing in its train both the pasteurization of milk and the manufacture of serums.

Later, about 1870, introduced antiseptics to hospitals, and almost completely eliminated an 80 per cent death rate from open wounds.

Modern developments included the X-ray, the discovery of insulin and the system of liver extract injections for anaemia.

Dr. Gray mentioned briefly the subject of cancer and some of the treatments for it. "Cancer," he said, "is a group of cells not growing up constitutionally and becoming cancerous."

R. J. Beattie Back From California

After his first trip to California since coming to this coast a few years ago, R. J. Beattie, chief clerk in the office of the B.C. Coast Service was back at his desk this morning. He went down the coast by the St. Ruth Alexander at the end of September and returned overland. Mr. Beattie took in the San Diego Exposition while in the south. He was there the day before President Roosevelt inspected it. He said it was very good, but was rather disappointed in its size. He specially mentioned the great Ford exhibit as being one of the outstanding ones. Mr. Beattie was much impressed by all California had to offer, but said that he would not think it not as fine as British Columbia.

LEPER WORKER VISITS CITY

H. N. Konkle of Toronto Tells of Noble Work Being Done By Mission

The commendable work being done throughout the world by The Mission to Lepers was related to The Times this morning by H. N. Konkle, Canadian secretary to the mission, situated in Toronto, who is visiting the city for a few days.

In so many cases the lepers are in poverty, he said, and thousands of them go from place to place begging for food. When they go to the leper homes they are cared for lovingly and tenderly, so that it becomes a heaven to them.

IN CANADA

In Canada there are about sixteen lepers, with five on Bentinck Island, near Victoria, and eleven at Tracadie, N.B. In the United States there are 600, with a possibility of 1,300; in Formosa, 4,000; in Korea, 20,000; in Japan, 60,000; in Siam, 10,000; in Burma, 15,000; in India, 200,000 with a possibility of 1,000,000; in China, 500,000 with a possibility of 1,000,000. Africa is honeycombed with leprosy and some have estimated 600,000. In South America it is also very prevalent. The estimate for the world is 2,000,000, which is very conservative and the correct estimate is somewhere between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000.

The Mission to Lepers is now working on behalf of the lepers of the world in over twenty-five different countries at over 100 stations and co-operates with thirty-seven denominational and missionary societies.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL
The work of The Mission to Lepers is interdenominational and all the denominations and missionary societies should be interested in and help support such a worthy cause. The policy of the mission is to go to various districts and establish a leper home, providing for all the lepers who come to them and whom they can accommodate. The missionary society working there then allows their missionary to give part time to supervise the leper home and give Christian teaching. The mission works hand in hand with the various denominations and missionary societies.

A series of robberies of Victoria homes and stores over the week-end, to-day were being investigated by city detectives. Thieves were successful in securing a quantity of money and jewelry in six break-ins and one attempted entry.

Four of the thefts were committed yesterday evening, two on Saturday night and the attempted entry was made Saturday.

The youth shouted when he heard the thief coming upstairs and heard him run out.

STORE VICTIMIZED
Thirty-seven packages of assorted cigarettes and a dozen packages of candy were stolen from a store owned by A. de Girolamo, 1497 Myrtle Street, on Saturday night.

Petroglyphs To Be Preserved

Indian Carvings at Chase River Protected as "Historic Object"

Strange Indian carvings on rocks just north of Chase River, Vancouver Island, will be preserved for future generations to gaze upon, and, if possible, learn their secret, as the result of an order-in-council passed by the provincial government to-day.

Under the Historic Objects Preservation Act, these weird carvings, known as petroglyphs, were declared "an historic object." This means they will be protected from defacement by tourists or other visitors, under penalties provided by the act. Notices to this effect will be posted.

Museum officials said there are a number of historical relics similarly protected by the act which was passed in 1925. In many cases they have been unable to discover what the carvings mean.

Clang Sets Mark For Six Furlongs

Cincinnati, Oct. 14.—Rohn F. Clark's Clang battered the United States record for six furlongs Saturday in beating the former record-holder, Myrtlewood, of Brownell Comb's string, in a match race at Coney Island Park for a purse of $2,000.

Clang finished in 1:09 1-5, clipping 1-5th second off the mark Myrtlewood set at Arlington last July, with the two nip and tuck through the final eighth.

Horses have been measured by "hands" from very ancient times. The measurement is from the top of the shoulder to the ground. The "hand" is four inches.

GREAT MUSIC IN LOHENGRIN

Some of Wagner's Best Will Be Heard Here Friday and Saturday Evenings

Based on the German version of the Arthurian legends, Wagner's "Lohengrin," which will be produced by the Victoria Civic Opera Society under the direction of Basil Horsfall at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, contains some of the most beautiful operatic music ever composed.

The demand of King Henry of Germany, as to the cause of the state of anarchy in Brabant, is the basic structure for a base solo of melodic outline and great strength. Frederick of Telramund, in response, sings his narrative, and boldly accuses Elsa, his ward of the murder of her brother. Elsa is summoned to answer to the charge, and she sings the exquisite "Dream Song" in which she tells of her vision of the knight in shining armour who will be her champion.

Also in Act One is the arrival of Lohengrin, who approaches in a boat drawn by a swan. In ringing style he states his purpose to defend the maiden so unjustly accused by her enemies. Lohengrin and Frederick engage in mortal combat, according to the custom of the times. Lohengrin is the victor. Elsa is declared innocent, her truth is pledged to her champion and the curtain falls on general rejoicing.

Guy Kibbee, who has the leading male role in the Warner Bros. production "Mary Jane's Pa," which opened at the Columbia Theatre to-day, knows how to roll his own.

In one scene he is called upon to roll a cigarette. Director William Keighley was a bit worried about the scene until he spoke to Kibbee. "That'll be easy," said Kibbee. "Just give me a few minutes to practice."

After wasting half a bag of tobacco, Kibbee could roll 'em with the best cow punchers.

Kibbee explained that he had rolled his cigarettes for years when he could not afford to buy tailor-made cigarettes. He was out of practice, but picked up the old trick in a few minutes.

"Strange Wives" is the second feature picture on the programme.

Greta Garbo at Little Orpheum

Greta Garbo, in the opinion of Herbert Marshall, noted English actor, is the most natural person he has ever known.

Marshall appears as Garbo's leading man in her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Painted Veil," which opened at the Little Orpheum Theatre to-day.

"I had not met Miss Garbo until the day before my first scene with her," said Marshall. "At the time, I was making additional scenes for another picture on an adjoining stage when I was asked to make a make-up test with Miss Garbo.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Out of Tolstoy's great tragic love story a new Garbo is born. As "Anna Karenina," Garbo is not only the generally acknowledged peer of the dramatic artists, but is also a more beautiful, brilliant and spirited natural character than she has been for years.

In the inspired performance of Frederic March, the sensational work of Freddie Bartholomew and the understanding support of Basil Rathbone, Maureen O'Sullivan, Reginald Owen and the others, there is a wealth of entertainment.

"Roberta" at the Playhouse Theatre

The best in singing and dancing, in bang-muscle and in fashion is said to be presented in "Roberta," RKO-Radio's gay and tuneful musical romance, starring Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, which opened at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

Miss Dunne sings several of Jerome Kern's finest musical hits. Astaire and Miss Rogers introduce spectacular new dance routines to the liking of other Kern hits. They also do some singing, and Astaire shows that his fingers are as nimble as his feet by playing a torrid piano number.

An all-star dance band, recruited from headliners of screen, air, stage and night club entertainers, performs under Astaire's leadership.

And for eye appeal, as well as a tip to the discriminating feminine shopper, a corps of the most beautiful girls in America model the latest in fashions, from lingerie to luxurious furs and evening gowns.

THE CLASS IN HUMANITIES at one of our leading institutions of learning is reported to have had an unexpected increase in attendance since one of the professors announced that he would start a course of lectures on HOW TO CHOOSE A WIFE.

Now, just what the learned professor is going to tell these young students about how to choose a wife I do not know, but if I were going to hand them out some information on this subject, I would say: Son, pick out a girl for a wife who has brains and a funny bone and a domestic complex, and then let nature take its course.

When you choose a wife, pay more attention to what is inside a girl's head than what is outside of it. Any beauty shop can turn a girl into a red-head or a platinum blonde or what have you, and put a crimp into the straightest hair, but if God hasn't given a girl intelligence it's just too bad. There is no way by which her husband can buy her what she lacks or change a little nitwit into a rational, sensible human being.

In the course of time the living picture turns into a chump, but brains improve with age and experience. The woman who is merely pretty depreciates every year. The one who is intelligent gains in attractiveness continually. Figure out for yourself which is the best investment for the long pull. Also, if you want a wife you can really boss and who will be easy to live with, marry a woman with sense. She will be amenable to argument. She will see your side of a question. You can teach her, improve her, change her, broaden her point of view, but you can do nothing with a fool. She is set and nothing can ever budge her from her position.

Pick out for a wife a girl whose laugh is hung on a hair trigger. A gay-hearted girl. A merry girl. A jolly girl. A girl who laughs off the misadventures of life instead of making tragedies of them. There are lots of things in marriage over which we either have to laugh or cry and thrice lucky is the man who is married to a smile instead of a tear jug. There is a lot of difference between having a wife who makes a funny story out of the time you got lit at the Elks' banquet and didn't get home until morning and the one who makes it a text for certain lectures for thirty years.

Pick out a girl for a wife who is a good talker. Who can entertain and amuse you after the love-dovey stuff is out. Marriage is for a long time and it seems longer if you have to spend your evenings with a wife who bores you. Most husbands who take to stepping out do so in search of the diverting companionship they neglected to provide themselves with at home.

Stephenson rated being a good gossip as one of the chief virtues of a wife, and certainly the woman who reads and is up on the news of the day and the last book, and who can't go down to the butcher shop at the corner without seeing something funny and collecting an interesting little budget of news, is a much more agreeable life companion than the one whose whole conversational repertoire consists in reciting the litany of her husband's short-comings and lamentations over her trouble with the children and the price of groceries and how hard she has to work.

Pick out a girl who considers matrimony a career instead of a chore, and whose ambition is to be a wife and mother and have a home of her own. Outside careers and matrimony do not mix any more than oil and water for the very conclusive reason that nobody can make a success of two diametrically opposite jobs at the same time. When a man marries he doesn't want a lawyer or a doctor or an opera singer. He wants a homemaker and he wants a wife who is glad she married him instead of thinking she made a sacrifice and who is willing to make him happy and comfortable instead of giving her best to her public.

And furthermore, a man is wise to marry a girl who already knows how to cook and run a house instead of letting her learn her trade at the expense of his digestion and pocketbook. A lot of the happiness in marriage consists in having good food, a clean hearth and a thriftily managed home where the domestic machinery runs on oiled bearings.

In choosing a wife consider well her disposition because that is what you have to live with. Pick out a girl who is sweet-tempered, unselfish and affectionate, for not all the beauty in the world nor all the brilliance of a man for having a wife who is a virago or a nagger or a human refrigerator.

The secret of how to be happy though married for a man consists in choosing the right girl for a wife. If you pick out one who checks up on these points you'll never wonder what made you stick your neck in the halter.

Uncle Wiggly And the Owl

By HOWARD E. GARIS

One day Mr. Twitstall, the fat pig gentleman whose cough was cured by the coldest candy Uncle Wiggly ever, happened into the Hollow Stump bungalow. "I have had news for you, Mr. Twitstall," grunted the pig. "Bad news," exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Yes," went on Mr. Twitstall. "Coming through the woods just now I saw Hooter, the big owl, perched on a tree not far from your bungalow. He was staring with his big round eyes and I think he was looking for one of your little rabbits to pounce on." "Very likely," said Uncle Wiggly. "Hooter, the owl, is very fond of tender little rabbits and I hope he doesn't catch any of your bunnies nor Jollie or Jille Longtail. I must telephone to Mrs. Longtail to watch her nice children." "Then Hooter, the owl, is dangerous, is he?" asked the pig. "Very dangerous to little animals," answered Uncle Wiggly. "Of course, he couldn't get you, Mr. Twitstall, as you're so big and fat." "Then this is one time I'm glad I'm fat!" chuckled the pig. "MUST DO SOMETHING"

Boy Killed When Gun Discharged

Associated Press

Mount Vernon, Wash., Oct. 14.—Victim of the first hunting fatality of the 1935 season in this district, an eleven-year-old boy died yesterday from a wound caused by the accidental discharge of his own shotgun.

Dick Ingman, eleven, son of C. O. Ingman, Spanish Island, took the gun along when he and his brother, Maurice, thirteen, left their house to get the cows.

Dick started to unload the gun when they returned. It discharged, the load striking him in the neck.

An Indian is not limited to one name all his life. His birth name is "Wurt" "Wurt" "Wurt" "Wurt" "Wurt". This is given him by a chief and he must accept it. However, he is given many chances to improve his standing and each additional feat of bravery brings him a better name.

FOOLING HOOTER

"Surely I will," grunted the pig. He led Uncle Wiggly to where he had seen Hooter. There was the big owl perched on a branch, staring straight ahead with his big eyes, waiting for night when he could catch a rabbit.

"You stand in front of him, with me," whispered Uncle Wiggly. "Then, Twitstall, you move slowly to the left. Hooter will try to follow you with his eyes and to do this he'll have to move his head. But as there are two of us, he'll have to move his head in one way and then the other to keep us in sight. But that, I think, will so twist and turn his neck that he'll be glad to go to bed. Ready now."

The rabbit and the pig stood in front of Hooter. The owl looked at Uncle Wiggly who moved a little to the left. Hooter turned his head that way to watch. But, instead of seeing Twitstall, he saw Uncle Wiggly. The owl turned his head the other way to watch. But, instead of seeing Twitstall, he saw Uncle Wiggly. Hooter moved again. Back snapped the owl's head for he couldn't move his eyes. Then Mr. Twitstall moved. Back snapped the owl's head the other way. And so, right and left, right and left, the pig kept the owl turning until at last his neck ached so hard he had to fly away. So he didn't get any little bunnies.

And if the chocolate cake isn't too good to speak to the peanut butter sandwich, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's nut roast.

ITALIAN LINERS TO STAY ON RUN

Will Not Withdraw Rex and Conte Di Savoia From N.Y. Route, Official Says

New York, Oct. 14.—Paul Cechiplini, traffic manager of the Italian Line, who has just returned from a six weeks' trip to Europe to survey prospects for the winter season, said Saturday that despite the rumors of impending war he had every reason to believe that the tourist travel to the Mediterranean and the Near East would be active.

"I spent nineteen days visiting the principal cities in Italy," he said, "and did not meet with any prominent persons who believed that France and England will go to war with Italy over the Ethiopian question. The young men in Italy are enthusiastic about going over to Africa to fight, but do not take it seriously. They regard an expedition to Ethiopia something like a joyride in this country."

"One thing certain is that the Rex, Conte Di Savoia and the other big Italian liners will not be taken off the New York service. The Saturnia and the Vulcania are now in the hands of the shipping company and are being fitted with new machinery to give them an increased speed to twenty-one knots and are also being thoroughly overhauled and redecorated with new furniture and draperies."

"In addition to the tourist travel to the South of France and Italy," the traffic manager said, "there is a steadily increasing traffic to Spain, Morocco and South Africa via Gibraltar, where the passengers from New York and the Italian ports disembark."

Cocos Island Treasure Party To Sail Shortly

Around the Docks

With a good list of passengers, the American Mail liner President Jefferson, Capt. Ahrens, is expected to reach William Head to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, inbound from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan, according to word from Allan, local agent. The liner will spend about two hours here before proceeding to Seattle.

LUMBER SHIPS
King Brothers, local shipping agents, expect the French vessel San Francisco here to-morrow morning to load a parcel of lumber for Europe. The Greek freighter Delphos left Ogdan Point this morning at 6:30 o'clock and put to sea, en route to Hull and other ports in England.

The British freighter Everleigh is sailing this afternoon for Port Alberni to complete her cargo of British Columbia lumber for the United Kingdom.

ORIENT SAILINGS
This week will see two sailings from Victoria to the Orient. On Wednesday the Ss. President Grant will be here several hours on her way from Seattle to the port. She was held over from last Saturday to accommodate the vice-president of the United States and a large party of officials.

On Saturday the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia will be here on her way from Vancouver to the Orient. The Ss. Empress of Canada has sailed from Yokohama for this port, and will arrive here, via Honolulu, Wednesday morning, October 28.

HELD AT SYDNEY
The Canadian Australasian liner Niagara is still being held at Sydney. She was posted to sail several days ago for Victoria and Vancouver, but her crew held up the sailing, pending receipt there that the liner's cargo would be discharged at British Columbia ports by union labor. Seamen of the ship are meeting to-day at Sydney. The Niagara was due here October 30.

LOADING FOR PALESTINE
The little Danish vessel Laura is now in Seattle loading the first shipment of fresh fruit ever taken from the Northwest to the Holy Land. The Laura is small and economical to operate. She is exceptionally handy for the fruit trade, as her cargoes do not flood the fruit markets. She carries a crew of only twenty men. A sister-ship, the Dora, is expected to load at Northwest ports during the next few weeks.

THREE MISSING AFTER SHIP FIRE
Associated Press
Portland, Eng., Oct. 14.—The Norwegian oil tanker Barton caught fire off the Devon coast yesterday evening after an explosion aboard the ship. Eighteen members of the crew were taken aboard the Norwegian steamer Timar, but three men were believed missing. The British destroyer Wrester took the tanker in tow and proceeded toward Portland.

Auxiliary Ketch Windward Coming to Victoria to Pick Up a Member of the Crew and Will Then Go South

Once again a British Columbia band of adventurers is going to seek for buried treasure on Cocos Island, in the Pacific Ocean off Panama. The auxiliary ketch Windward is expected to come to Victoria this week to pick up a member of the crew and will also go to Ladysmith for another member. She will cruise Vancouver Island waters for several days, testing her equipment, before starting on the voyage.

This expedition will be commanded by Erskine "Slim" Nichol, owner of the vessel, who has done considerable sailing in Central American waters, and will have a crew of five men. After picking up the Vancouver Island members of the crew the Windward will return to Vancouver to load new sails and take on supplies and additional gear.

TO USE SAILS
The Windward was built five years ago for the rum trade and is a staunch sea-going ketch. In recent years she has been lying idle in Vancouver's Coal Harbor, awaiting charter. She is fifty-four feet in length and has a beam of thirteen feet. She is equipped with a twenty-five horsepower engine, but it is the intention of her owner to sail as much as possible. The cruise to Cocos Island will take about six weeks.

Cocos Island is not the single objective of the party. One of the crew possesses a chart of remote Revilla Gigedo Island, off the coast of the Gulf of California, Mexico. On the way southward it is intended to call at this island for a short time and seek another treasure which is believed buried there. No previous expedition has yet sought treasure on this particular island.

The Windward expedition came into being as the result of the tales of Bud Bellamy, soldier of fortune and adventurer. He brought a story of having found 138 ancient coins buried in the sands of Cocos.

MANY EXPEDITIONS
The Windward expedition is only one of many which have been launched from British Columbia in quest of the fabulous treasure alleged to have been stolen from the city of Lima, Peru, and hidden on Cocos by English freebooters.

In 1868 Winchester, the first big treasure expedition, was launched from the steamer Eliza Edwards, under command the late Capt. Simon McKenzie. In 1897 Frank Munsey, the magazine and newspaper publisher, financed a Victoria expedition in the schooner Aurora, under the late Capt. Hackett. The same shipper returned to the quest in 1904 in the schooner Blakely. This was financed by the late James Dunsinuir, former Premier and Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

Recent expeditions were those of the steamer Gunner in 1925 under Capt. Charles Polkinghorne, and the Silver Wave expedition of 1932. None of the countless treasure quests has been known to return with any booty.

All former treasure hunters have been pursued by an insatiable jinx, but the Windward crew believe that they have an excellent chance to evade it. If they find Cocos Island too tough for them, they are going on an eight-months' pleasure cruise through the South Sea Islands.

ONE OF THE BIG ITALIAN LINERS

magnificent unit of the Italian Line, is pictured above as it was warped away from its Hudson River pier, bound for Italy, on the eve of President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation, which retracted government protection for citizens of the United States traveling on Italian ships. Henceforth Americans traveling on the Savoia and other ships of the fleet, including the Conte Grande and the Rex, must do so at their own risk, because Washington holds a state of war exists between Italy and Ethiopia.

INTREPID OFF TO NEW YORK

Bound for New York after being tied up at Victoria for the last two months, the auxiliary all-steel barkentine Intrepid sailed from the Rithet docks this morning. At New York she will take orders from her owner, W. P. Murphy of Chicago, regarding her next cruise.

Capt. J. P. Devlin, a veteran seaman of twenty-five years' experience, a United States navy reserve officer with the rank of lieutenant-commander and a former captain of Dollar liners, went out with the Intrepid. There are thirty members in the crew.

The Intrepid, which was built at Boston in 1930, has crossed the Atlantic three times, visiting ports in the Mediterranean and the North Sea. On one of these voyages she made a record of twelve days and eighteen hours on sail alone. She has made several voyages to the Caribbean, visiting many of the West Indian islands, South American ports and the Canal Zone. Twice this summer she took cruises to northern British Columbia and Alaska waters.

Mr. Murphy has owned five yachts during the last twenty years. His hobby is yachting, and he has always remained loyal to the old sailing ship traditions.

QUEEN FLASHES DISTRESS SIGNS

Associated Press
Seattle, Oct. 14.—No further word had been received to-day concerning the famous old steamship Queen which flashed distress signals Saturday while forty miles from Honolulu, bound for the shipbreakers' yards in Osaka, Japan, with 1,100 tons of scrap steel aboard.

Louis Dullen, Seattle steel company head, received word from one of his brokers in San Francisco that the vessel was in distress. The message came from a Japanese bank and indicated the machinery of the fifty-three-year-old Queen had broken down. There are twenty Japanese seafaring men aboard. The Queen left here September 30.

Winter Schedule Starts To-morrow

The winter schedule of the triangle service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle will go into effect to-morrow. It was announced this morning at the Bellview Street headquarters of the B.C. Coast Service.

The afternoon departure to Seattle from Victoria will be put back to-morrow to 4:30 o'clock and arrival in Seattle will be at 9:30 o'clock. Arrival here in the afternoon from Vancouver will be at 3:30 o'clock. The afternoon sailing to Vancouver will be at 2 o'clock and arrival at the mainland port at 6:45 o'clock.

Columbia W.A. Board.—The monthly meeting of the Diocesan Board of Columbia W.A. will be held on Friday in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall, commencing at 11 a.m. At the afternoon session the diocesan president, Lady Lake, and the delegate, Mrs. Wilfred Barclay, will give their reports of the jubilee meeting of the Dominion board, which they attended in Ottawa, October 1 to 5.
